County Corn Tops Timetable

THE OLD SAYING IS: "If corn is knee high by the Fourth of July, farmers can expect a good crop." If the statement holds true, farmers in Marion County should be harvesting a bumper crop of corn this season. Here, Miss Jean Click of near Marion shows that corn on her father's fields is well above the knees. Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Click. Her parents run a 190-acre farm on State Route 529.

Marion Man Dies in Crash On Turnpike

Francis Thomas Killed Near McConnellsburg; Grandson Badly Hurt

An 80-year-old Marion man was killed and his grandson was seriously injured when their auto smashed into a bridge abutment on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near McConnellsburg, Pa. early Sunday.

The victim was Francis E. Thomas of 154 Kenmore Ave., a retired postoffice worker.

Killed Instantly

Pennsylvania state police said he was killed instantly.

His grandson, Thomas Tatham, 20, also of the Kenmore Ave. address, who was driving the car, was critically injured.

Early reports from McConnelsburg were that Tatham, suffered a fractured collar bone, numerous cuts and bruises about the head and face, and a leg injury. He is the son of Marion Police Captain Marion B. Tatham of 859 Garfield St. and Mrs. Florence Tatham of the Kenmore Ave. address.

Capt. Tatham left for Chambersburg where his son is hospitalized shortly after 12 noon today and expected to arrive about 8 p.m. tonight.

On Way to Baltimore

Thomas Tatham and his grandfather left Marion about 7:30 p.m. Saturday night bound for Baltimore, Md. to visit the youth's fiancee and family. The crash into the bridge abutment occurred at about 3 a.m. Sunday, Pennsylvania state police reported. No other details of the accident were available.

Born in LaRue

Francis E. Thomas was born Dec. 17, 1873 in LaRue to William and Emma Brown Thomas. His wife, Eva Scofield, died March 1, 1941.

He was a member of the Epworth Methodist Church, Marion Lodge No. 70, FAM, Marion Chapter No. 62, and Marion Council No. 22. He spent his entire life in Marion.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Tatham; three sons, John G. Thomas of 304 Edgewood Dr., James Thomas of Michigan, and Harold Thomas of South Bend, Ind.; one brother, Earl Thomas of the Richland Pike; and four grandchildren.

Burial will be in Pleasant Hill Cemetery. Funeral services are incomplete, pending the arrival of the body at the Hughes Mortuary.

Officers Hold Initial Session On Armistice

Trung Gia Conference Launches Indochinese Copy of Korean Parley

HANOI, Indochina, July 4 (AP)—French Union and Vietminh officers held their first meeting today at Trung Gia, Indochina's Panmunjom, to consider details of a possible cease fire in the nearly eight-year-old Indochinese War.

Trung Gia is in the center of a neutral zone about 4½ miles in diameter carved out of Vietminh-held territory 25 miles north of Hanoi.

'Step Forward'

The chief rebel representative said he considered the meeting a "step forward" toward peace, while the French spokesman was careful to emphasize that any final decision on a truce is up to the Geneva conference.

The meeting was postponed from last Monday because of uneasiness on the part of France's Vietnamese allies over what concessions might be made to the Communist-led Vietminh. It came after the French disclosed they were pulling out of the southern sector of the Red River Delta to strengthen defenses farther north—a move which was denounced by Viet Nam political leaders. French Union forces under heavy rebel attack withdrew yesterday from Phu Ly, key communications center 35 miles south of Hanoi.

Held Closed Session

The conferees held a public session this morning, then reconvened later in closed session at French insistence to work out an agenda. The Vietminh had been ready to call it a day after the open meeting.

"Discussions on the spot always have a greater chance of being concrete and realistic," Gen. Van Tien Dung, head of the Vietminh delegation, said. "We can say that the present meeting marks a step forward on the way toward the

Rebel Leader National Hero Of Guatemala

Armas Seen Choice For President Rather Than Head of Junta

GUATEMALA, July 4 (AP) — Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, the former exiled leader of a tattered force of anti-Communist invaders, joined today with fellow members of the governing military junta to chart the future of this revolt-torn Central American republic.

Castillo received a hero's welcome when he returned by plane yesterday to this capital from which he had fled in 1951 as an escaped prisoner of the Communist-supported regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Arbenz in Exile

Now, after a campaign of only two weeks in which the invading rebels never got close enough to the capital to attack it with anything but planes, the ousted Arbenz is a political exile in the Mexican embassy. One report said Arbenz would be flown with his aides to Mexico City tomorrow.

Armas and Col. Elfego H. Monzon, leader of the previous junta, reached a compromise agreement in neighboring El Salvador Friday to combine forces in a fusion military regime.

Return in Triumph

Both returned to the capital in triumph yesterday. While Monzon is technically top man in the temporary junta, it was clear the people regard Castillo as their new national hero.

Many think Castillo Armas is destined to be the next president. Although he has disclaimed any such ambitions—and those who know him best say he is sincere in this—conditions may force him to run.

Outlook Improves

Traffic Death Toll Below Predictions

By The Associated Press

Safety experts said Sunday the nation's Independence Day weekend traffic death toll may be lower than they had predicted.

Traffic deaths reported after almost 48 hours after the start of the 78-hour holiday period numbered 145. Fifty-one drownings and 29 miscellaneous accident fatalities brought the overall total to 225.

"If the present rate is maintained or improved a bit," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, "the nation might reach President Eisenhower's goal of cutting the holiday's expected traffic toll in half."

Toll of 430 Predicted

The Council had predicted a record 430 lives would be lost in auto accidents during the period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday.

Paul Jones, information director of the Safety Council, said the toll has been running well behind the schedule for that for the Memorial Day holiday this year when 364 died in traffic. The count was 145 at the 40-hour mark that weekend.

Dearborn urged motorists to curb speed as a life saving measure.

One terrific crash early Saturday killed four occupants of a car mashed in a head-on collision with an empty bus on heavily-traveled Rt. 1 near Mahwah, N. J. A fifth occupant of the car was mangled, and the bus driver hurt seriously. Traffic was backed up 10 miles and it took four hours to unsnarl it.

Bee Causes Fatal Crash

A bee flew into another car in Massachusetts. The distraction caused the vehicle to ram a tree. The result: A woman killed and her companion seriously injured.

If the 430 traffic deaths predicted by the Safety Council occur, this weekend's toll will surpass the 1952 record of 366 for a three-day fourth of July holiday by 64. The three-day accident fatality high,

Few Mishaps Mar Holiday in Marion

Holiday traffic accidents in Marion city and county were running at a minimum Saturday afternoon and Sunday. City police reported only one collision and it involved less than $100 damage.

The state patrol also reported only one accident on county highways. It occurred at 7:15 p.m. Saturday on Route 23 one mile north of the Marion - Delaware county line when a trailer hitched to a car driven by Walter L. Innis, 33, came unfastened as he was passing another car.

The trailer swerved to the side of the road and turned over in the ditch without striking any other vehicles or objects, patrolmen reported.

Hot Weather To Remain for Rest of Holiday

Marion residents were treated to sunny and warm weather over the holiday weekend with more of the same in store for today. A high of 85 degrees was reached Sunday afternoon, one degree hotter than Saturday's high.

Sunday morning, the temperature dropped to 64 before starting to climb. A shower Saturday afternoon, which failed to dampen the spirits of most citizens brought a total of .11 of an inch of rain to Marion.

Residents here were cooler this Fourth of July than last year at the same time. Then the temperatures reached a sizzling 91 degrees in the afternoon, but dropped to a cool 51 during the night.

Officials forecast partly cloudy weather for today, with a chance of a few scattered thundershowers. The high for today is expected to reach the 85 mark again.

French Rail Wreck Fatal to at Least 35

CHATEAUBOURG, France, July 4 (AP)—Hundreds of rescue workers today ripped through the twisted wreckage of a four-car express autorail train which crashed head-on last night into an oncoming freight at the outskirts of this village in southern France.

At least 35 men, women and children heading for weekend holidays were killed and the toll was expected to go higher when the search through the wreckage was completed. Twenty-seven persons were in nearby hospitals suffering severe injuries.

Postal Dispute Snags Federal Pay Boost Bill

Wage Issue Threatens To Kill Off Raise for 1½ Million Workers

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—A deadlocked wage dispute between Uncle Sam and half a million postal workers threatened today to kill prospective pay increases this year for 1½ million federal employes.

Caught in the pay squeeze is an administration-backed bill to raise postal rates 245 million dollars a year, including a penny increase in the cost of mailing letters.

Both postal pay and rate bills are being held up in the House as the result of administration objections to any pay increases without first overhauling the hoary post office job and salary setup.

Organized postal groups have tried to override the House leadership and force a pay bill to the floor, but they appear to lack the necessary backing, and Congress may adjourn before any action is

Eisenhowers Spending Holiday at Camp David

THURMONT, Md., July 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower spent a quiet, restful Fourth of July in the seclusion of the Catoctin Mountains.

It was a dull, overcast day, at Camp David, the presidential retreat near here.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower slept late and then spent part of the day lounging on the terrace of their rustic cabin with weekend guests.

Motives of Premier Not Understood, Pickett Says

Americans have been given a false impression of India's Prime Minister Nehru, according to Bishop J. Wascom Pickett, who was in Marion Sunday to speak at the union services at Central Christian Church.

Bishop Pickett said Nehru has been portrayed in America as pro-Communist. Actually, he is more anti-Communist than American leaders, the bishop said, declaring that Nehru has jailed more Communists in the past few years than American leaders have since the birth of the Communist Party.

POINTING to past performances in the United Nations, Bishop Pickett said India has voted with the United States in more than 90 per cent of all cases when the interests of America were in direct conflict with those of Russia.

However, he said, the people of India will not be coerced into voting with America on all questions. That seems to be the opinion of the Indians at present, he said.

Nehru feels that America does not want India free and independent, but rather wants the country to take orders on all questions from America.

As long as Nehru is in power, the bishop said, India cannot go Communist. Should Nehru be overthrown, though, there is no doubt the country will succumb to the Red forces and join other Communist countries in Asia, he declared.

IF THAT HAPPENS, all Asia will be lost to Communism, according to the bishop. He said there is no other pro-democratic leader who has enough respect of the population to take his place.

Bishop Pickett took issue with America's foreign policy on three points:

1. Much Asian support has been alienated by the United States constantly talking of leading the world. Asians fear such talk, much the same as Americans feared the same claims by Adolph Hitler.

2. The United States talks too much of new weapons such as the atom and hydrogen bombs, military strength, massive retallation and other shows of armed might. Formerly the Asians thought of America as a peace-loving country, but now they picture America as a nation bent on war. American government officials have been too quick to offer arms and ammunition to any country which would use them to the advantage of the United States.

3. The military pact with Pakistan was the height of "stupidity." Pakistan is a dictatorship which has no constitution and has committed aggression against India and Kashmir.

Bishop Pickett explained his last point by saying the United Sates urged India to agree to a

M'Kay To Hold Line in Federal Park Spending

Must Look for Local, State Aid, Declares Secretary of Interior

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay said today that if people want more parks and recreational areas they should look to state and local governments rather than to the federal government for help.

"Too long—far too long—have the people looked to Washington for solutions to all their problems," McKay said in an address prepared for the 200th anniversary celebration here of the Battle of Ft. Necessity during the French and Indian War.

Marked Turning Point

McKay said the Battle of Ft. Necessity seemingly was a defeat for George Washington, who commanded a detachment of Virginia troops fighting for the British, yet it marked a turning point in national history by bringing Washington into world prominence for the first time.

He said the state joined with local citizens and the federal government to preserve this historic shrine, dedicated yesterday as a national battlefield site.

Costly Operation

McKay said this demonstrates understanding of the need for states and local communities to share with the federal government in the development of national resources.

McKay said it costs great sums of money to safeguard the safety and convenienc eof the millions of visitors each year to the national park system.

Deadline Near At Geneva for Details of Truce

GENEVA, July 4 (AP)—The conference to reach a peace in Indochina heads for the crisis stage with the deadline approaching for agreement on the withdrawal of foreign troops from Laos and Cambodia.

The nine delegations agreed last month the withdrawal problem should be examined by a pair of military commissions which should turn in a report by Saturday.

Within the conference the term "foreign troops" was understood to mean the Communist-led Vietminh rebel forces and the French Union troops. The Communist delegations tentatively agreed, however, that both Laos and Cambodia would be permitted temporarily to retain a limited number of French instructors for their fledgling armies.

Like House Bill

Foes of Ike's Farm Plan Still See Hope of Victory

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — Lawmakers opposed to the Eisenhower program of flexible farm price supports outlined a Senate strategy today they hope may reverse the setback they suffered in the House last week.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he plans to substitute the one-package House farm bill for one now pending in the Senate committee.

"Then we could knock out the flexible 82½ to 90 per cent section, redefine some other points and send it on to the Senate," Mundt said. "I think a bipartisan farm bloc there is strong enough to put across 90 per cent for the basic crops."

Mundt is a member of a group that favors continuation of the present system of rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity. He said if his move is successful it would send the general farm bill back to the House for two possible actions:

1. A second House test on rigid versus flexible supports in an effort to overturn last week's 228-170 vote in favor of a flexible system ranging between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity.

2. A Senate-House compromise that would raise the lower limit of flexible supports to "somewhere between 82½ and 90 per cent." This would be getting still further away from the administration request for a range of between 75 and 90 per cent.

"Farm state senators know that the minimum support level will act

Jolts Administration

Byrd Will Oppose Boost In Limit on Federal Debt

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) jolted administration hopes of obtaining a financial breather today by announcing he will oppose any increase in the 275 billion dollar federal debt limit.

Byrd, a key member of the Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview that Senate passage of the administration's tax bill in his opinion makes it unnecessary to raise the legal limit on government borrowing.

Sees No Necessity

"The revenue loss from this bill is not as much as had been anticipated," the Virginia senator said. "I don't think it is necessary to raise the limit now, particularly since the Treasury has about six billion dollars on hand and can borrow another five billion under the present limit.

"The Treasury said last year when it didn't get the increase that it would be in all kinds of financial difficulties. But they cut back expenditures by two billion dollars and the country hasn't gone to pot."

Sees Request for Action

Administration officials have made it clear they will ask the Finance Committee to act on a bill approved by the House last year to lift the limit to 29 billion dollars. They have indicated they will be willing to compromise on a lesser increase.

Chairman Ferguson (Mich) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he expects a formal administration request for action soon. He said attempts will be made to bring the issue to a vote

USS Nautilus Trials Near

Crew Prepares for Initial Test of First Atomic Sub

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—This country's first fission fleet sailors are polishing off—by land and by sea—the training they need to operate the world's first atomic submarine.

They've been dry land sailors almost three years, but the time is approaching when they will take the USS Nautilus on the first critical trials of a long series of tests.

Developed in Idaho

During much of the last three years, the men have lived and worked on an arid plain in Idaho, while they helped to build and learned to operate the original, land-based prototype of the nuclear power plant that will drive the Nautilus.

So with their skipper, Cmdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson of Long Beach, Calif., they are taking a refresher course in seamanship as well as practicing up for operating a vessel unlike anything that has sailed before.

Tests Begin at Pier

At the Navy's New London, Conn., submarine base the crew trains daily either in boats operating out of the base or in an amazing piece of machinery called the Askania Device. The Askania Device is to the submarine service what the Link Trainer is to airmen. While firmly grounded, it contains all the controls and simulates all the conditions of a submarine operating at sea.

The Nautilus' testing begins even before the crew casts off the lines and she moves out for the first time under her own, unique power from the fitting-out dock of the Electric Boat Division of General

Mother of Two Arrives First In Plane Race

California Housewife Lands Before Others In Powder Puff Derby

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 4 (AP)—Mrs. Doris Thorkildsen, a Newport Beach, Calif., housewife and mother of two children, was the first to arrive here today at the end of the Powder Puff Derby.

Mrs. Thorkildsen and Miss Lola Perkins of Studio City, Calif., her copilot, stepped from their red and white Beechcraft Bonanza at 2:10 p.m. (EST), after stopping in Memphis and Chattanooga. They left Amarillo, Tex., at 5:45 a.m. (CST) this morning.

Mrs. Thorkildsen estimated they averaged 155 m.p.h. in the air race which started at Long Beach, Calif.

"We didn't make our handicap," she said. The plane was handicapped at 162 m.p.h., according to the manufacturer's rating.

The winner is selected according to its showing with respect to its handicap.

Jane D. White of Glenview, Ill., and Louise M. Smith of High Point, N. C., both flying Bonanzas were expected to arrive about two hours behind Mrs. Thorkildsen, the Civil Aeronautics Administration here reported.

A spokesman reported that Barbara J. Sewald, Hollywood, Calif., had landed her air-cooled Ercoupe somewhere between Prescott and Winslow, Ariz.

Geraldine Mickelson of Sacramento, Calif., made a wheels-up landing at Albuquerque, N. M., and dropped out of the race, officials reported.

Mrs. Thorkildsen said as she stepped out of her plane, "We want to sleep until noon tomorrow." Then she and her copilot went to a hotel.

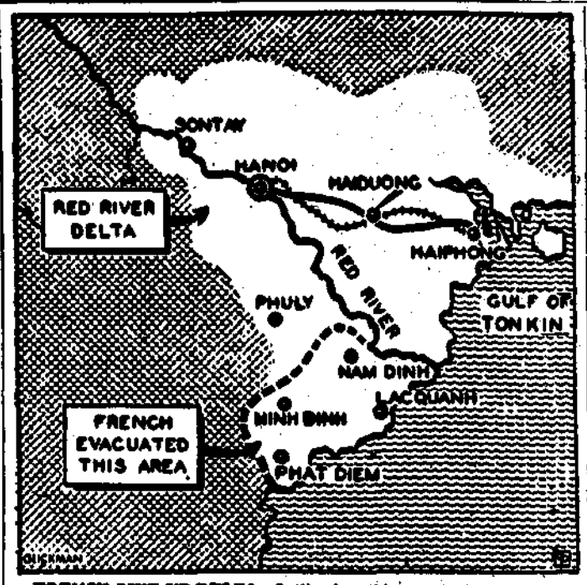
Total elapsed time for the trip, including an overnight stop, was estimated at about 16 hours.

Rules of the race, sponsored by the Ninety-Nines, Inc., an international organization of licensed women pilots, provide that the planes must be on the ground by a half-hour after sundown, and that they can't take off until a half-hour before sunup.

A former Miss America and two grandmothers are among the Powder Puff fliers. Jean Bartel of Los Angeles, copilot for Lauretta Foy of Van Nuys, Calif., was Miss America in 1943.

The grandmothers are Mrs. Adeline Maylen of Lynwood, Calif., and Mrs. Gladys Muter of Chicago.

Last year's winner, Mrs. Frances Bera of Inglewood, Calif., is defending her title.



FRENCH GIVE UP DELTA. Outlined on this map is the lower delta area abandoned by the French army. The withdrawal of the entire southern zone of Tonkin's rice-rich section leaves more than 1,600 square miles to the Communist-led Vietminh rebels, giving them unchallenged control over two-and-a-half million people. Hundreds of civilian refugees are reported streaming northward in the wake of troop convoys.

Jap Scientists Eat Fish From Bikini Waters

TOKYO, Monday, July 5 (AP)—Japanese scientists sent out by their concerned government to check on after effects of the H-bomb reported yesterday they safely ate raw fish caught in Bikini waters. This is the area where the United States staged the tests.

Some of the 22 scientists scoffed at the "over-nervous" Japanese who destroyed quantities of suspected "hot" tuna after 23 fishermen reported they were burned by radioactive ashes of the March 1 test blast.

Nonetheless, Dr. Hiroshi Yabe, chief scientist, told a welcoming crowd of 2,000:

"We have found out that H-bomb tests seriously affected sea waters, fish and other marine life . . . We earnestly wish our findings will be made full use of for the public benefit."

The 22 government scientists made the 51-day, 9,000-mile survey after Japanese worries over fall-outs from the tests extended even to mulberry leaves consumed by silk worms.

Dr. Kazuhisa Kameda said many of the fish caught in the test area were radioactive about the gills and internal organs but "we ate the raw meat of such fish."

The scientists said sea water from the surfce down for 80 yards was found to be slightly radioactive—only about one per cent of the danger limit.

Plankton, the tiny floating organisms and plants in the ocean, were more radioactive than fish.

'LET ME FIX YOUR COLLAR'. William C. Groebl, 59, civic leader of Park Ridge, Ill., a Chicago suburb, has his collar straightened by his wife, Orpha, 60, after he was found shoeless and hungry in Chicago's downtown Grant Park. He had been missing for a week. In explaining his disappearance, Groebl said, "I wanted to get away from it all." He said his shoes were stolen while he slept in the park.

Nuclear Physicist Interviewed

Reds May Build Biggest H-Bomb, Dr. Teller Says

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—The New York Times today quoted nuclear physicist Dr. Edward Teller as saying Soviet scientists ultimately may construct a more powerful hydrogen bomb than that of the United States.

"There is no question that they can, given the time and the will," the Times quoted Teller as saying.

The scientist, who is considered the chief architect of the hydrogen bomb, was interviewed by William L. Laurence at Los Alamos, N.M., the birthplace of atomic and thermonuclear weapons. The interview was "within the limits of strict security," the newspaper said.

Teller told the Times it was evident Russia came within "a few short months" of beating the United States in the hydrogen race. He based his observation on the fact that the first thermonuclear explosion in Russia took place in Aug., 1953, nine months after the first U.S. test.

Thus, the Times quoted him as saying, it is possible Soviet scientists may find a short-cut, leading to a better approach than this country in making more powerful hydrogen weapons.

"We must continue the search for better and better approaches, so that we may always stay in the lead," Teller told the newspaper.

The physicist, who was one of the key witnesses in the hearings of the Atomic Energy Commission on the security status of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, also said that "technical developments should not be hampered by misconceptions or political pressures."

"Scientists as a group should stay out of politics except in areas touching in science," the Times quoted Teller as saying.

Oppenheimer recently was barred by the commission from further nuclear work as a security risk.

Teller said the action "has made it clearer than anything to date how deeply worried the majority of physicists are about the present system of our security requirements."

"On the one hand, the physicist should understand better the urgency of the security requirements," he told the Times. "On the other hand, the security requirements themselves should be improved and brought into better conformity with proper practices in a free society."

Serviceman, 31, Held in Murder Of Texas Girl, 3

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 4 (AP)—A murder charge was filed here this afternoon against a 31-year-old Lackland Air Force Base airman in the bludgeon slaying of 3-year-old Chere Jo Horton.

The brutally beaten body of the little girl was found this morning on a brushy hill near Lackland AFB.

The body was found shortly after Airman 3.C. Jimmy N. Shaver was arrested as he floundered half clothed through the bushes near an old gravel pit.

Shaver was held without bond on the murder complaint filed in Justice of Peace Court by Constable Ed Schaefer.

Investigator Dean Jones said it appeared a 20-year-old basic trainee at Lackland, also questioned, had no part in the actual crime. He said the youth would be held as a witness.

Jones said Shaver maintained his innocence throughout several hours of questioning and accused the younger man of the crime.

A Bexar County constable told reporters the little girl was with her parents at a south side tavern last night when she complained of being sleepy. Her mother told her to go outside and sleep in the car, the officer said. When the father went out a few minutes later to see about the child, she was gone. The all night search began immediately.

Night Watchman Planned To Start Store of His Own

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 4 (AP)—A special duty policeman, Carl Lee Parker, 55, of Columbus, was arrested here early today after police said he burglarized a store he was supposed to be guarding.

City police said a check of Parker's home turned up these items: Three trunks filled with leather briefcases, some of the larger cases packed with smaller briefcases; 43 throw rugs, 50 steam irons, 40 new and used auto tires; 20 portable radios; 10 portable typewriters, 51 gallons of paint and "hundreds of flashlights."

Detective Charles Phillips said Parker told him, "I wanted to open up a store of my own some day."

cease-fire line in Kashmir and then proceeded to make a military pact with Pakistan.

"I do not know any Indian of any religion who does not believe that America has done great injustice to India by making the pact with Pakistan. I do not know an American in India who does not regard the pact with Pakistan as a blunder," the bishop said.

Bishop Pickett said he hoped the people of America would write the President, the secretary of state, and their senators and congressmen in an effort to end the Pakistan pact.

He said if America did not antagonize India, that country would remain completely loyal. He said if India went Communist, though, World War III would surely follow.

SPEAKING of the recent visit between Nehru and Communist China's Premier Chou En Lai, Bishop Pickett said the idea in Nehru's mind was to show Chou how much Chou was missing by being on unfriendly terms with democratic countries.

Americans should be happy the two leaders met, for by creating a friendly feeling between India and China, the possibility that China may be divorced from Moscow is greatly enhanced, the bishop said.

Bishop Pickett said he felt the United States should recognize Red China only if that nation agrees to renounce any claim of sovereignty over the island of Formosa, permitting the free Chinese to remain active.

BISHOP PICKETT has been in this country since early April. He is here to meet with Methodist ministers over the country, to attend a meeting of the World Council of Churches to be held in Evanston, Ill., next month, to meet with state department officials, and to speak to the American people on the Indian subject.

He was to leave after his talk last night for Lakeside. From there he will go to Washington to confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He plans to return to India the first of September.

Bishop Pickett is head of the Methodist Church in the Delhi area, covering about one-fourth of the area of India. There are about 300,000 Methodists in his diocese.

HE HAS BEEN in Indian for 44 years, going there in 1910. In 1935, he was made bishop. Four years ago he was in the United States and was instrumental in obtaining wheat for the famine-stricken country.

No threat of famine faces Indians now, he said. India should have its best harvest in history. He gave credit for the improvement of farming conditions to the Point Four program instituted several years agoo.

Bishop Pickett said, more Indians are being converted to Christianity now than in any time in the past. He said the trend is now for the educated people to accept Christ. Previously missionaries got most of their converts from the ignorant and downtrodden.

The caste system has not been abolished. However, the most cruel aspects of that system have been remedied.

Bishop Pickett was born in Texas and was educated in Kentucky. When he went to India in 1910, he conducted research studies on the economic, sociological, and religious life of Indians for the Rockefeller Institution. He then accepted the position of secretary of the National Christian Council in India prior to being elected bishop.

AID TO GUATEMALA

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — The government today announced a $25,000 shipment of medical and pharmaceutical supplies is being flown from New York to Guatemala City for use if needed "to alleviate sickness and distress" among the Guatemlans.

A supplementary shipment will follow Tuesday.

North Carolina has one cow for every 10 persons.

Tax Write-Off On Grain Bins, Ponds Lauded

DALLAS CITY, Ill., July 4 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said today provisions in the pending tax bill granting tax write offs for the expense of building farm ponds and grain storage bins "will be a great aid to the farmer."

The Democratic senator spoke at the annual Tomato Festival observance in this town of 1,250 on the bank of the Mississippi River eight miles east of Fort Madison, Iowa.

Douglas was one of several Senate Democrats who waged a battle for revisions in the tax measure as passed by the House. They were defeated in attempts to raise the individual income exemption by $100, and to secure in lieu of that smaller flat tax credits.

The farm improvement credits permit a write off up to 25 per cent of gross income in any one year for expense of building ponds or grain storage facilities on the taxpayer's farm.

"The bill, as it was passed" by the Senate, Douglas said, "is very far from perfect. I would have preferred to have given an increase in the personal income tax exemption which would have benefitted all taxpayers equally."

Board Vacancy Filled at Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — A vacancy in the Bucyrus city school board, caused by resignation last month of James W. Overholt, has been filled with the appointment of A. George Stoltz, cashier of the Second National Bank and a Bucyrus native.

Stoltz will serve the remaining 18 months of Overholt's term. Overholt resigned after he took over his duties as postmaster after serving six years. Succeeding Overholt as vice president of the board is Fred C. Ward, vice president and treasurer of the Swan Rubber Co.

Board members recommended renewal of a three-mill levy for operating expense be submitted to voters at the November election.

Two new teachers have been hired by the board along with several custodial employes. Three teaching vacancies are unfilled, Supt. I. J. Miller reported.

The announcement gave no further details. Alan Dulles, CIA director, said he welcomed the study.

Clark currently is president of The Citadel, a military college at Charleston, S. C.

Holiday Pleasant Over Most of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Warm and pleasant weather blossomed throughout the nation on its birthday—Independence Day.

Except for a sporadic shower rainbelt extending eastward from Illinois to the Middle Atlantic States, the nation basked in sunshine.

Warm air sped northward through the Great Plains and Great Lakes regions, boosting mercury readings.

Continuing hot weather blanketed the Southeast. Temperatures were normal for most sections west of the Mississippi River.

The West recorded Saturday's highest temperatures with Blythe, Calif., posting a 110 degree mark.

withdrawal project to proposals for the "neutralization" of Cambodia and Laos as a sort of buffer zone between the Communist and non-Communist areas of Southeast Asia. This, in turn, has been linked to suggestions that Viet Nam, the wartorn coastal state, be split between the Vietminh regime in the north and the pro-French regime in Saigon.

One of the commissions, grouping the French and the Laotians on one hand and the Vietminh on the other, has had only two inconclusive sessions. The French figure in this panel because the military command in Laos is a joint French-Laotian affair.

The Cambodian-Vietminh commission has yet to hold its first meeting.

Cambodian officials, clinging to their demand that the Vietminh "invaders" must pull back from Cambodian soil, say that one or two sessions will be ample to decide the issue. They say that either the Communists must retreat or the commission must report failure to the full conference.

The Communist position has been that fighting there is being waged by "resistance" groups of "patriotic" Cambodians who have merely asked the Vietminh for help against the French-dominated local government.

The Cambodians have been cool to the neutralization idea. They want to be free to join a future Southeast Asia Defense Pact linked to the West. They have been angling for U. S. support but say they have not yet obtained any solid American commitment.

The coming week promises to bring a renewal of intense diplomatic activity to Geneva with the return to the scene of some of the leading figures of the conference cast.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Red Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai may return Thursday. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Premier-Foreign Minister Pierre Mendes-France may come to Geneva about the same time.

Death Claims Father Of Head of U.S. Steel

MASSILLON, Ohio, July 4 (AP)—David D. Williams, father of the board chairman of U. S. Steel Corp., Benjamin F. Fairless, died today at his home here. He was 89.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in the Gordon-Shaidnagle and Hollinger Mortuary.

When Williams and his late wife, Ruth, were rearing their family they were extremely poor, and their industrialist son was adopted by an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fairless, whose name he took. Williams, who started to work in coal pits at the age of 12 and later became a steelworker, retired in 1935.

PLANE CRASH KILLS OHIOAN

GREENVILLE, Ohio, July 4 (AP)—Adam J. Homan, 47, of near Maria Stein (Mercer County) was killed today when his single-seat light plane crashed in a cornfield south of Union City. The plane skidded 97 feet into a creek.

Northern Ohio Doctor's Wife Fatally Beaten

CLEVELAND, July 4 (AP)—The attractive, 30-year-old wife of a Bay Village osteopath was found hacked to death in her bedroom today. Her husband told a grim tale of battling her attacker in the house, down an outside stairway to a private beach and along the shore of Lake Erie in the plush suburb which lies west of Cleveland.

The first word of the crime came early this morning when Dr. Samuel G. Sheppard phoned the suburb's mayor, J. Spencer Houk, and gasped:

"For God's sake, Spence, get over here quick. I think they have killed Marilyn!"

Found Semi-Conscious

Houk and his wife rushed to the osteopath's house to find him lying in a semi - conscious condition aginst a chair in the living room. Upstairs was the pajama-clad body of his blonde wife, sprawled on a bed with about 30 wounds from a sharp object about her face and head.

The Sheppards' six-year-old son, Samuel Jr., was sound asleep in the next room.

Dr. Sheppard, 30, who was taken to Bay View Hosptial for treatment of head injuries, told police the following story:

He had fallen asleep last night while listening to the Cleveland Indians-Chicago White Sox baseball game on the radio. Some time later he awakened with the feeling he had heard his wife scream. He rushed upstairs only to have something crack across his head as he reached the top.

Blacked Out

He blacked out and next recalled that he was chasing one man, or perhaps two, through weeds in the back yard, down the stairway to the beach fighting and grappling as he went. Then he blacked out again and when he aroused discovered that he had fallen into the water at the edge of the shore.

He returned to the house and saw his wife's body and then lost consciousness again before finally getting to the phone and calling Mayor Houk.

Police said two desks and Dr. Sheppard's medicine kit had been ransacked, leading to a theory that the intruder or intruders may have been seeking narcotics. A green cotton bag, containing the osteopath's blood-stained wristwatch, his ring and fraternity chain was found behind the house. The watch had stopped at 4:15 a.m.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said Mrs. Sheppard had not been attacked sexually and died from multiple skull fractures.

A neighbor couple, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ahern, had been at the Sheppards' home earlier last night. Mrs. Ahern said they went home when they noticed that both the osteopath and his wife appeared to be getting sleepy.

The vessel's controls and indicator system — including the "Christmas tree" board of red and green lights to show whether innumerable valves are closed or open—will be checked out thoroughly.

Then the Nautilus will be ready for the big day, probably sometime later this summer or early fall when she heads down the Thames River for Long Island Sound where the initial trials will be run.

Long Island Sound is only about 150 feet deep in the area used for shallow water tests.

When and if the Nautilus proves out to the satisfaction of all her technical and operating hands she will put out to the open sea for the deep dive trials. Only then will the Navy know definitely whether she will fulfill the specifications for a submarine that can travel deeper, farther and faster under water than any submersible ever built.

The number of typewriters and mimeograph machines aboard the battleship Missouri is larger than the number of guns.

Pay Boost

taken on this or related increases for a million other federal classified workers outside the postal system.

And until the pay issue is settled and the probable size of the post office deficit can be more clearly determined, administration leaders are also holding up action on a bill to raise rates on most classes of mail.

Would Cost 2¼ Billion

Organized postal employes asked for across-the-board raises of $80 a year and a like request has been made by other classified government workers which, if granted, would add an estimated total of 2¼ billion dollars a year to the cost of federal employment.

The House Post Office Committee, overriding Chairman Rees (R-Kan), last month approved a bill by Rep. Corbett (R-Pa) for a 7 per cent across-the-board increase in postal pay with a $240-a-year minimum and $480 maximum. The total increase would be about 200 million dollars a year.

The committee bill omitted the job and salary classification provision asked by Postmaster General Summerfield, and referred his recommendations to a joint Senate-House committee for further study.

In the face of speculation that President Eisenhower would refuse to sign any pay bill omitting a management overhaul of Post Office Deportment jobs, the policy-making House Rules Committee has pigeonholed the bill.

A petition to force it to the House floor for action had only 136 signatures when the House recessed Friday. A total of 218, or a majority of the 435 members, is necessary to override the Rules Committee.

With Republican leaders shooting for congressional adjournment by July 31, there appeared little chance of getting a bill through both House and Senate even if its backers succeeded in getting the necessary 218 signatures.

Indochina

settlement of the Indochinese War by negotiation . . .

"The delegation of the high command of the Viet Nam People's Army (Vietminh) is aware of the important mission of this conference. It will spare no effort to bring it to a successful conclusion, not only to put into rapid execution the agreements reached by both parties at Geneva and to settle on the spot the questions they deem necessary to raise, but also to make useful suggestions to the Geneva conference with the purpose of rapidly reaching a cease fire, an armistice, and the reestablishment of peace in Indochina.

"We are ready to believe that the delegation of the high command of the French Union forces in Indochina is animated by the same sincere desire to put a rapid end to hostilities. In the interests of the peoples of Indochina and of France, we wish this conference to have good results."

Col. Paul Lennuyeux, head of the French delegation, made it plain the French consider the main conference is the one at Geneva.

"It is not up to us to decide the issue of the war here," he said. "It is only our business to study concrete remedies for certain painful problems born of the war and how, if Geneva should so decide, an end can be made of the fighting locally."

He added the French delegation would carefully avoid any general, political, ideological, or propagandistic discussion. Lennuyeux declared:

"We have met to seek out together all the conditions for the practical application of the decisions made at Geneva. We also shall propose, taking into account our detailed knowledge of the situation in this country, concrete solutions which may enlighten and help the negotiators at Geneva in their work on the decisions they will have to make."

While the Vietminh sent only five delegates, the French Union is represented by five French and three Vietnamese officers. The rebels may have cut the size of their delegation to emphasize their claim the Vietnamese are not really representatives.

To avoid trouble, no flags were placed in the meeting room, which has two entrances, one for each side. Reporters sat behind the delegation to which they are accredited; while photographers were permitted to roam about freely to look for good angle shots. Among representatives were 15 French newsmen and 13 Vietminh correspondents.

Farm

as a floor under most farm prices in a time of surplus," Mundt said. "If we could raise that above 82½ per cent it would help."

Rebellion Against Aiken

Mundt's proposal would amount to a rebellion within the Senate Agriculture Committee against the chairman, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), a stronger supporter of the Eisenhower flexible program.

Aiken's plan is to continue working on a separate Senate bill, starting Wednesday, bring this to the Senate for final decisions and then let a Senate-House conference committee iron out differences between the two bills.

Sen. Young (R-ND), also a supporter of rigid supports, said he would support the Mundt move to work on the House bill.

"And I think we have the votes in committee to do it," Young added.

The Senate committee already has lined up 8-7 in favor of a one year extension of 90 per cent supports but Aiken said he is confident that the Senate would reverse this decision.

Mundt, Young and other backers of rigid high level farm supports think they have a chance of winning on the Senate floor.

Earlier this year the Senate rejected by a 48-40 vote an effort to extend rigid supports. It was offered as a rider to a separate wool bill which the House included in its general farm bill now back on the Senate side.

Some senators who voted against rigid supports then said they might favor them later but did not want to clutter up the wool bill. Eight senators were not recorded on that test.

Debt

in the Senate before Congress adjourns, around the end of July.

But Republican leaders were not at all certain of holding their ranks intact in a controversy involving the political issue of further deficit spending.

Sen. Williams (R-Del), a Finance Committee member and one of the Senate conferees on the tax bill, said he has yet to be convinced the debt limit ought to be raised. Although the Senate version of the tax bill would mean only about 100 million dollars in revenue loss in the next year, in subsequent years the loss might exceed one billion dollars annually.

Sen. George (D-Ga), another key member of the Finance Committee, said he wants to see what sort of agreement can be reached on compromising Senate - House differences in the tax measure before he decides finally how he will vote on a debt limit increase.

Compromise Possible

There are indications that Treasury officials would be willing to settle for some sort of compromise under which some government debts could be taken out from under the statutory limitation, but Byrd said he wants none of that and would rather vote for a straight increase.

There also was a possibility that a boost of from 5 to 8 billion dollars in the ceiling would be proposed within the Senate committee, rather than the 15 billion increase which the House has approved.

Unless the Senate acts this year, the administration would have to start all over again in the next Congress to get approval by both Houses for any increase.

The world has about 1¼ million nurses but needs six million, according to United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organizaton estimates.

"There has always been difficulty in securing adequate appropriations to maintain properly the facilities already a part of the system," he said.

"I am reluctant therefore, to support any request for additions to the system until the present facilities can be brought up to standard.

"This can only be done by bigger appropriations, and in view of the administration's determined effort to balance the budget any expansions in the park system in the immediate future appear to be foreclosed."

Cleveland Pitchers Hold Chicago to 1 Hit in 2-1 Win

Garcia, Narleski and Wynn Give Tribe Series Sweep

CLEVELAND, July 4 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians used three pitchers today to hold the Chicago White Sox to one hit and win a 2-1 victory for a sweep of a four-game series.

Larry Doby drove in both Cleveland runs with a home run and a single. He has accounted for a total of eight runs in the four-game series and the homer, his 15th, puts him one ahead of his teammate, Al Rosen.

Today's victory left the Indians well established in first place on July 4, said to be the crucial date in any pennant race. Records show that seven times out of 10, the team in first on Independence Day is there at the end of the season.

Minnie Minoso had the distinction of getting the White Sox sole hit today. He singled to center off reliefer Early Wynn in the ninth inning, and then was out stealing to end the game.

The Chicago run was scored on a walk, a wild pitch and a wild throw. In the eighth inning, Sherm Lollar walked. Fred Marsh, running for him, took second on a wild pitch and moved to third when Willard Marshall grounded out. Marsh scored when Johnny Groth grounded to Bill Glynn, who threw wild to Wynn, covering first, on what should have been the third out.

Cleveland's first run came in the fourth when Bill Glynn hit the second of his three singles, moved to second on a sacrifice by Bob Avila and scored on Doby's single. Doby's homer in the sixth added the other Tribe counter.

Rookie Ray Narleski, who got out 17 batters in a relief stretch that began in the second inning and ended in the eighth, got credit for the victory. It was his second victory against no losses.

Narleski took over after starter Mike Garcia was removed when he was found to have a hemorrhage in the middle finger of his pitching hand. Garcia had retired the first three men in the first inning and had one out in the second when he was replaced. His finger trouble is not expected to keep him out of the lineup long.

In the eighth inning, Wynn replaced Narleski with a three and one count on Marshall, whose subsequent grounder helped score the Chicago tally.

Bob Keegan was unsuccessful in his bid for his 12th victory as the Indians blasted him for six hits.

Golf Tourney In Detroit Won By Middlecoff

DETROIT, July 4 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.—who almost quit in the first round—smashed Meadowbrook's par and a strange one-year slump today when he fired a three-under-par 68 to win the Motor City Open with a 72-hole total of 278.

The 33-year-old dentist, winless since the Carlings open last summer, dismantled Meadowbrook's par 71 with rounds of 72-68-70-68-278, six under par. It gave him a two stroke edge over Gene Littler, the promising newcomer from Palm Springs, Calif., veteran Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Tommy Bolt, Houston, Texas.

Littler and Furgol topped Middlecoff's 68 with a pair of hot 67s but the good doctor's steadiness in the four-day tournament was the turning point.

In winning his third Motor City title, Middlecoff picked up first prize of $3,000. He shared the crown with Lloyd Mangrum in 1949 and won it outright in 1952.

Only last Thursday, when the $17,500 event started, Middlecoff broke his pet putter and said he "felt like picking up and quitting."

But he quieted his momentary flare of temper, steadied his game and completely spoiled the tournament for the other 156 players with his cold, calculating shotmaking.

The slender veteran started today with a scrambling birdie-bogey-birdie. Then he settled into par golf, adding two more birdies on the 12th and 17th holes.

Three players were bracketed at 281 for fourth place—Wally Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., and Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Ont.

Following at 282 were veteran Johnny Palmer from Charlotte, N. C., and Smiley Quick of Los Angeles, who shot the best round of the tournament, a seven-under-par 64.

PAIR OF OFFSPRING

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — Trainer Tommy Heard Jr., always will remember March 25. On that day his wife gave birth to a daughter. At the same time one of his broodmares gave birth to a small foal weighing 13 pounds and standing only 24 inches high.

Pittsburgh, Giants Split Double Bill

PITTSBURGH, July 4 (AP)—Pinch-hitter Sid Gordon socked a three-run homer in the eighth inning today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-6 victory over the league leading New York Giants in the second game of a doubleheader. The Giants took the first game 9-2.

The victory and the loss shaved the Giants' lead over the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers to 3½ games. The Dodgers, playing only one game today, defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3.

Gordon's pinch homer in the nightcap came with two out, runners on first and second and the Pirates trailing by two runs.

Gordon batted for pitcher Paul LaPalme who had given up six runs and 12 hits in 7 1-3 innings. LaPalme was credited with the victory, his first of the season. He has five losses.

The Pirates belted four Giant hurlers for 11 hits. Larry Jansen started the game but was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning. Hoyt Wilhelm replaced him but was taken out for a pinch hitter in the sixth frame. Marv Grissom, who replaced Wilhelm, was charged with the loss. John McCall finished the Giant's pitching chores.

Gordon's homer was his first this season at Forbes Field. It was his third round-tripper of the year. Until he swatted the winning blow, Gordon had not driven in a run in 15 games.

The Giants' Don Liddle, a southpaw, allowed only three hits in the 8 2-3 innings that he pitched in the first game.

Zaharias Dispells Rumors of Quitting

PEABODY, Mass. July 4 (AP)—Babe Zaharias, celebrating her third Women's National Open Golf Championship, said today, "I feel good for 20 more years."

The titanic Texan, acclaimed America's greatest woman athlete of all time, quickly dispelled reports she might be ready to retire because of a cancer operation 15 months ago.

"If I've ever had any doubts that I might be able to go on—and let me tell you I've had plenty," the Babe said, "then they are gone now.

"For the first time since the operation, I feel like the same old Babe again. I'm hitting the ball. I've got my concentration back."

Mrs. Zaharias gave an overpowering exhibition — perhaps the greatest sustained golf ever in a women's championship—in winning her third open at the Salem Country Club yesterday by 12 strokes.

Little Betty Hicks of Durham, N. C., was second at 303, followed by Louise Suggs at 307, defending champion Betsy Rawls and 19-year-old Mary (Mickey) Wright, an up-and-coming amateur, at 308.

Redlegs Shade Milwaukee On Greengrass' Clutch Hit

MILWAUKEE, July 4 (AP)—Jim Greengrass' bases - loaded single high-lighted a four-run sixth inning today as the Cincinnati Redlegs chased Lew Burdette to beat the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, and climb to within a half-game of the National League's first division.

Burdette, riding a one - hitter through the first five innings in which he faced only 15 batters, fell apart with two out in the sixth. It was the second straight game in which the rubber-armed right-hander had blown in the middle innings.

Wally Post singled to start the sixth for the Redlegs, but Burdette got the next two men on fly balls. Bobby Adams beat out a single off Eddie Mathews' glove and Roy McMillan and Gus Bell spanked one-basers to the outfield for two runs. Chet Nichols replaced Burdette and walked Ted Kluszewski, filling the bases. Greengrass then slashed single over second with Ray Crone on the mound for Milwaukee to wrap it up.

Billy Bruton drove in two of the Braves' runs on an infield force in the third and a single to center in the fifth. Johnny Logan's seventh home run leading off the fourth produced the other.

Howie Judson, although removed for a pinchhitter in the sixth, was credited with the victory, his third against three losses. The defeat was Burdette's ninth against seven wins.

The Braves' paid attendance for 38 home dates mounted to 965,006 with today's crowd of 26,516.

LONGSHOTS THRIVE

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Derby is getting to be known as the race for longshots. Sky Ship won the first running in 1952 and returned $24.10 for a $2 mutuel ticket. Last year Money Broker won and paid $33.80. This year Correlation, with Willie Shoemaker riding, paid $17.20.

Three Marionites Win At Raceway in Tiffin

Bill Krohmer, Roy Hobson and George Newman of Marion streaked to victories Friday night at the Tiffin Raceway.

Krohmer took over the lead in the seventh lap and maintained it to win the first heat, 10-lap race in 4:26. Newman won the second heat in 4:38 when he took over first in the last lap. Hobson captured the third heat in 4:55.

Grim Hurls Shutout for New York

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—Rookie Bob Grim blanked Washington with five hits today for his first major league shutout as the New York Yankees downed the Senators 3-0. Yogi Berra drove in the first two Yank runs with a single in the sixth and successive doubles by Bill Skowron and Andy Carey added the other run in the seventh.

Grim settled down after a shaky start to win his ninth game to three defeats. Johnny Pesky's double and a walk to Pete Runnels put him in trouble in the first. Tom Umphlett's single and a walk to Joe Tipton provided another threat in the second but Grim helped himself by covering first base to complete a double play.

The Yanks were held to two hits in the first five innings. With one out in the sixth, Lefty Maury McDermott walked Grim. Singles by Jerry Coleman and Irv Noren loaded the bases, but Eddie Yost made a great play on Mickey Mantle's trickling grounder to force Grim at the plate. Berra then came through with a bloop single to center, scoring both Coleman and Noren.

Skowron and Carey opened the seventh with successive doubles to make it 3-0.

Dodgers Blast Roberts, Beat Phillies in 10th

PHILADELPHIA, July 4 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers blasted Robin Roberts for a pair of triples and two doubles in the 10th inning today to score four runs and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 at Connie Mack Stadium.

Carl Erskine earned his ninth win against seven losses, while for Roberts it was loss number eight against 11 victories.

The Dodgers, fighting desperately to keep from losing any more ground to the league leading New York Giants, broke up a 1-1 tie with their 10th inning onslaught.

Erskine flied out to open the 10th, but Junior Gilliam bomebd a triple off the right field wall. Walt Moryn, who has been poison to Phillies pitchers in this three game series, smashed another triple past the fleet Richie Ashburn in centerfield, scoring Gilliam. Duke Snider was passed intentionally, but Gil Hodges hit the center field wall with a mighty double and Moryn and Snider scored.

Campanella skied to Dan Schell in left, but Carl Furillo laced another two bagger to left and Hodges romped home with the fourth run of the inning.

Wimbledon Scene Tranquil

Tennis Fans in England Differ From Americans

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There was considerable indignation, or at least amazement, among this nation's sports fans the other day at some news that came out of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, where for nearly a fortnight the world's best tennis players have bee using up may hundreds of tennis balls.

It seemed that some 18,000 paying customers had sat and stood through a long afternoon of chilling rain without having seen a ball struck and then, upon being prodded by the public address system, simply had gathered up their possessions and gone quietly back home. There were no rain checks to be used on another day. There were no refunds.

The general reaction we have heard and read is that if anything of the kind had occurred on this side of the big water there would have been a man-sized riot, at the very least. This probably is true. It should not be lightly assumed, however, that the British tennis fan is necessarily a spineless creature because he submitted to such high-handed treatment.

Over many years, our observation has been that the British tennis fan is a man apart. He bears little resemblance to the America variety and none whatsoever to the Australian, except insofar as they all like to watch good tennis.

Over a matter of 75 years, Wimbledon has become more a state of mind than a mere tennis tournament to the normal Briton. The great sprawling plant with its covered main sands and acres of velvety grass has become the shrine of tennis-loving folk everywhere.

Men and women and medium-sized children stand in block-long lines all night for the privilege of buying tickets which will permit them to stand at the sides of he famed center court all the next day and witness a final.

The big thing is to have been at Wimbledon on at least one day of the great fortnight. For the first week the quality of competition doesn't really amount to much, yet we have seen a crowd of 30,000 jamming happily from court to court on the first Saturday or drinking tea blissfully under the tents and stands. Chances are that nobody thought of demanding his dough back the other day.

There is the additional fact that most of the 14,000-plus seats in the center court—the expensive ones—are reserved from year to year for the length of the tournament, so that those who bought their way in at the gate were not nicked for to much—about the price of a double scotch.

Baltimore Defeats Detroit as Kretlow Hurls Five-Hitter

BALTIMORE, July 4 (AP)— Lou Kretlow scattered five hits—one of them Walt Dropo's pinch hit home run — as the Baltimore Orioles turned back the Detroit Tigers today 3-1 and swept the three-game series.

Except for Dropo's eighth inning blow, when Dropo went to bat for starter and loser Steve Gromek, Kretlow was in little trouble posting his second victory of the year against four defeats.

He walked only two and struck out six Tigers before the holiday crowd of 11,506 fans.

The Orioles got to Gromek for two runs in the second inning, then added an insurance run off reliefer Dick Marlowe in the eighth.

Kiely's Shutout Paces Red Sox Past Athletics

BOSTON, July 4 (AP) — Sammy White drove in three runs with a home run and a single today as the Boston Red Sox blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 8-0 behind Lefty Leo Kiely's eight-hit pitching.

Kiely, in gaining his second victory of the year against five defeats, posted shutout No. 2 for Boston pitchers as his teammates collected 15 hits. The Red Sox have been blanked eight times to date

Leo gave up three singles in the first inning but a double play and an inning-ending fly ball by Gus Zernial got him out of trouble. With runners on second and third in the sixth, Kiely fanned Joe DeMaestri, one of his five strikeouts, for the third out.

In an unusual feature, not a single outfield putout was made against Boston.

SNAKES ALIVE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — William Sweet, a Montana Fish and Game Commissioneer, brought to the commission meeting one guest — a live rattlesnake. Trapping and killing rattlers happens to be Sweet's hobby. When he placed the 2½ foot rattler on the commission conference table, nobody was frightened in the least — because the snake was in a jar. Sweet explained the rattler was his gift for the state's use in summer fair displays.

Chicago Splits Doubleheader With Cardinals

CHICAGO, July 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals exploded for five runs in the fifth inning to blank Chicago, 7-0, in the second game of a doubleheader after the Cubs won the opener, 4-2, here today.

Snapping a six game losing streak against the Cubs, the Cardinals completed three weeks of travel to seven National League cities with a seven won, 11 lost record.

Royce Lint, pitching the distance the first time this season, evened his record at 2-2 by yielding nine hits Johnny Klippstein drew the loss, his seventh. It marked the eighth straight time the fast-balling right hander has started and failed to finish.

Lint, a lefthanded draftee from Portland, aided his own cause with a two-run double in the Cardinals' decision-sealing rally against the kayoed Klippstein and rookie Jim Brosnan, his successor

Ernie Banks used a double and Gene Baker his sixth homer, a three run blast in the sixth, to account for all of the Chicago scoring in the opener as Paul Minner tamed the Cardinals a fourth straight time

The only damaging hits were Rip Repulski's fourth inning single behind a Stan Musial double, and Ray Jablonski's 10th homer leading off the eighth inning Starter Joe Presko was the first game loser, suffering his seventh setback.

Neighborhood Youths Honest, Senator Finds

PITTSBURGH — State Sen John Walker says he has positive proof that kids are honest.

Walker has a tennis court on his property and allows neighborhood youngsters to use it. This summer, the senator had a big cooler installed for soft drinks. The teenagers help themselves at five cents a bottle depositing their coins in an old can.

"Some of my friends thought I was a sucker," Walker laughed "But the kids are putting it right on the line. I come out even every time."

REESE RUNS WILD

BROOKLYN (AP) — Folks here in Brooklyn claim that Pewee Reese is the best base runner in the game. And they pull out some records to back up their claims. The records show that the veteran Dodger shorstop was caught only six times in 28 attempted steals in 1953. In 1952 he stole 30 bases in 35 tries. From 1947 through 1953, Reese was successful in 140 of 175 attempted steals.

Ty Cobb created or tied more major league records than any player. He led American League batters 12 times.

Clerk of Courts Named in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Crawford County Commissioners here Friday announced the appointment of Mrs. Mabel Mullen as clerk of courts, effective Aug. 15, when the resignation of G. William Dustman, Bucyrus Republican, becomes effective.

Mrs. Mullen, a lifelong Bucyrus resident, has been a deputy in the clerk's office since 1950 when she was appointed by James R Kehrer, Bucyrus Democrat and former clerk of courts. She was promoted to chief deputy last fall when Mrs. Kay Galitza resigned.

Commissioners said Mrs. Mullen will serve until the general election in November when county residents will use the write-in method to elect a clerk of courts and a county auditor. The winner in November will serve until January, 1957, covering the remainder of Dustman's term

Dustman announced his resignation last month to accept a sales post with the Island Creek Coal Sales Co. in Cincinnati.

Mrs Mullen is the second woman to be appointed this year to a county office here. In March, Miss Naomi Haines, a deputy county auditor 28 years, was named county auditor, succeeding Albert Stetzer, who resigned to join a local bank

The write-in candidate for auditor will serve from Nov. 3 until next March.

Doomed Slum Buildings Used for Fire Practice

CHICAGO—(UP)—Slums about to be wrecked serve on last useful purpose in two cities, the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials report.

The shaky structures in Detroit, Mich., and Memphis, Tenn., are used for practice of civil defense and fire-fighting crews before being torn down.

Seventy city employes who are part of the Detroit civil defense organization held a training session recently in the area of the Gratiot redevelopment project.

At Memphis, slums marked for destruction served as a laboratory for a national fire instructors' conference.

In Memory

Of Virginia Ellene Duffy who passed away July 5, 1953.
Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break, but in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart,
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by

Two Auto Mishaps In Morrow County Reported by Patrol

Two minor, no injury traffic accidents were reported in Morrow County over the weekend by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

One occurred at 5:05 p.m. Saturday at the intersection U. S. Route 42 and State Route 61 and resulted in the arrest of one of the drivers. Involved were cars driven by Ray E. Cochran, 66, of Powell and Bobby M. Parks, 24, of Columbus.

Cochran told patrolmen he stopped at the intersection behind another car and Parks ran into the rear of his car. Pars was charged with failure to stop within the assured clear distance ahead. He was fined $5 and costs in Mayor Emery Murphy's court at Mount Gilead.

The other accident involved one car driven by Robert Scott Bailey, 18, of near Edison. It happened on Route 95 some two miles east of the Marion-Morrow County line on a curve in the village of Denmark Bailey was traveling east and started skidding on the curve. His car went out of control, swerved to the left side of the road, then to the right of the road and crashed into a telephone pole.

The pole was broken off, several feet of farm fence was torn down and the car badly damaged, but Bailey was unhurt.

There are about 80 million motor vehicles in the world.

General Pay Increases Granted by Many Cities

CHICAGO (UP) — The International City Managers' Association reports that a check of 53 cities, most of them under 100,000 population, showed 29 gave general pay raises to all employes in 1953.

Ten cities, the association said, raised the pay of certain classes adopted new pay schedules that increased salaries for most employes.

Less than one-fifth of the 53 cities failed to make some wage increases the association said.

County Seniors Given Awards

Five Students Granted Teaching Scholarships

Five Marion County high school seniors have been granted elementary teacher education scholarships, County superintendent of schools D. T. Mills announced today.

Three of the students awarded the $500 grant are from Harding High School while one is from Green Camp High and the other from LaRue. The students are: Arlene Cleveland, Phyllis Jean Corbin, and Anita Jo Porter, Harding; Linda Lou Virden, LaRue; and Marilyn Mae Lindley, Green Camp.

The grants are good for two years of educational training if the students become teachers. If not, they are required to return the award. The scholarships were set up by the Ohio General Assembly.

A committee of four Marion educators chose the students. They were: Cecil Gabler, Harding principal; Miss Philomen Gregg, George Washington School principal; Miss Pansy Rauhauser, Harding teacher; and Mills.

Winners were selected on the basis of financial need, scholarship ranking and potential as a teacher. Mills said the committee has recommended two more Marion County seniors for the award.

Vodka Bars Draw Fire Of Young Moscow Reds

MOSCOW, July 4 (AP)—An illegal vodka bar camouflaged behind the front of a dress shop, and other speakeasies drew fire in the Soviet youth paper Komsomol Pravda today.

The Communist Youth League paper, a consistent crusader for purity and temperance, asked an intensive government drive to close down open vodka bars in the streets.

The aim of the campaign is not total prohibition such as imperial Russia had during the first world war but to improve morals, particularly of youth, and to dry up drink spots around factories and schools.

Lake Central Boardings In June Show Increase

Lake Central Airlines' passenger sales in Marion showed an increase during the month of June, it was reported today by Russell D. McMahan, local Lake Central station manager.

According to McMahan, the five-state local service carrier realized increased passenger boardings in June which were six per cent above the number boarded in May of this year.

McMahan said he expects Marion to show a further increase in August. The three month period, August to October, is generally the peak season for airline travel.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

"A word to the wise is sufficient, Mr. Brown," I said. "Higher limits on your auto liability policy are necessary. Several states with Financial Responsibility laws have increased the required liability limits. If you ever drive beyond the state line, you'd better have adequate limits."

Earl J. Andrews

Naturally, like most of us, Mr. Brown quite frequently drove out of the state and he was interested in these changes.

"What are the requirements elsewhere? And, how would it effect me?" he asked.

"First of all, failure to have the limits prescribed would result in trouble and delay. In some states, you might not be allowed to drive home. In others, it might affect your driving privileges after you got home. It's serious."

"Mr. Brown," I continued, "about 45 out of the 48 states have a financial responsibility law. Of these, six now require $10,000/$20,000 in bodily injury coverage, and one, Connecticut, requires $20,000/$20,000. Several of the others have law changes pending. The only safe course is to raise the limits of your policy to figures we know are adequate."

"What does it cost?" he asked.

"Just $4.62 additional for $20,000/$40,000 limits. These will enable you to meet state requirements anywhere."

Mr. Brown looked relieved. "After that big buildup, I thought it would cost a fortune," he said grinning. "Sure, let's raise the limits."

Memphis Earns Title as Quietest City in the Nation

CHICAGO (UP) — Memphis, Tenn., has good reason to call itself the nation's quietest city, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

The society cited the city's expanded noise abatement program as the reason.

The program began with ordinances against noise and with zoning laws to keep noise makers to themselves, the society said, and the program was followed up by enforcement.

When the program was started in 1940, Memphis had a population of 292,942 and a vehicular registration of 70,586. Since then the population has grown by about 70 per cent — to 432,250 persons. Registration of cars and other vehicles has leaped nearly 100 per cent, to 139,628.

Meawhile, the city has stepped up its efforts to control noise.

The original ordinance barred "the creating of any unreasonably loud, disturbing and unnecessary noise within the limits of the city." With some exeptions, it prohibits the blowing of horns or whistles and the playing of radios between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Supporting ordinances created "hospital quiet zones" and barred the loud operation of juke boxes or other devices between midnight and 8 a.m. Auto mufflers are required and exhaust cut-outs are prohibited.

Memphis has eliminated much of the noise made by streetcars, overhead trolleys and other public transportation vehicles because all such vehicles either are electric trackless trolleys or gasoline or diesel buses.

It's a Lead Pipe Cinch To Put Up This Building

CHICAGO (UP) — A new method of installing plumbing has cut the cost of two housing projects.

According to the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, the new method might be called a lead pipe cinch.

The plumbing was installed before the houses were built in projects at Nashville, Tenn., and Pueblo, Colo.

The secret is that the pipes are lead and were bent and reshaped to fit the houses that were built later.

Dog Is Faithful to End, Dies at Office of Friend

FALLS CITY, Neb. — (UP)— An 11-year-old water spaniel belonging to Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Glenn returned to die at the office of a Falls City lawyer who had been his pal before the attorney died a year ago.

The lawyer did not own the dog, but Mrs. Glenn said that whenever Butch felt he wasn't appreciated properly at home he would look up the lawyer. The two hunted and fished and rode together in the lawyer's car.

The dog was found dead recently with his head resting on the doorstep of the law office.

Frazier Mfg. Plant Reopens

Firm To Employ 40, Makes Plastic Goods

Reopening of the Frazier Manufacturing Co. plant in Marion was announced today by plant manager, Mrs. Mae Frazier.

Closed since the first of the year, the plant at 142 S. Prospect St. went back into production last week, following about five days of installation of sewing machinery used in the production of plastic products at the plant.

"We are expanding over our former operation," Mrs. Frazier said. Previously the company employed some 15 to 20 persons to manufacture plastic table cloths, curtains, pillow cases, and the like from plastic film.

Presently the plant employs about 40 persons with a possible increase to 60 in three shifts. It also has taken over addition space in the building. Previously only a down stairs storeroom was used, and now both floors of the large building are in use with one floor as storage and the other for manufacturing purposes.

Complete organization of the company has not yet been established, according to Mrs. Frazier.

U.S. Armed Forces Network in 12th Year

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 4 (AP)—The strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner' rang out over the airwaves of Europe today as the American Forces Network began its 12th year of broadcasting.

The network started in England July 4, 1943, and hasn't missed a day since. It followed the invading armies across the English Channel and into Germany, where it now has seven studios.

The network presents American radio programs—minus the commercials—plus news, music and special programs. Although these are aimed for Americans away from home, the network has thousands of Eurpean listeners.

Parents of Davies Are Honored by Memorial

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Joseph E. Davies, wealthy former U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, has presented to the National Cathedral here a stained glass window in memory of his parents.

Davies' mother, Rahel O'Fon, an ordained Baptist minister, was a spiritual leader in the United States shortly after the Civil War.

A native of Wales, she migrated to America, and was married to Edward Davies, a well-to-do Conestoga wagon builder.

As a boy, Davies accompanied his mother on trips to Welsh settlements all over the country. He recalled that she read passages from the Bible to him every night and that she counseled:

"I would rather have you be a good lawyer than a poor minister. But I hope you will never fail to be a good man."

Pope Holds First Public Audience Since Illness

VATICAN CITY, July 4 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today received 300 American pilgrims in his first public audience since he became ill last winter. The pilgrims were led by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston, who presented the Pope with two envelopes containing money for charities.

Earlier the Pope conferred with the archbishop during a private audience. Mayor John B. Hyes of Boston is a member of the pilgrimage, which will visit Italy, France, Ireland, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium and England.

Cardinal Most Popular Choice As 'State Bird'

WASHINGTON (UP) — The cardinal is America's most popular "state bird."

Seven states, beginning with Kentucky in 1926, have officially designated the brilliant red songster as their ornithological mascot.

A close second is the meadowlark, honored by six states. The mockingbird has been chosen by five states and the bluebird and goldfinch four times each.

Generally, sentiment is the deciding factor in the choice of a state's residents, but admiration for a bird's practical usefulness also can enter into the selection.

In a recent contest in Rhode Island, the Rhode Island red hen, famous as an egg-producer, received the majority of the 20,763 votes cast and was thereupon "elected" the state "bird."

Delaware, similarly practical, picked the blue hen in 1939.

Sentiment was the guiding factor in Utah's selection. Inhabitants of the landlocked state chose the seagull in memory of its aid in saving wheat crops of the early settlers in 1848. The crops were being attacked by swarms of crickets when the gulls came from the islands of the Great Salt Lake and devoured the insects, saving the vital wheat. A monument to the gull now stands in Salt Lake City.

Alabama is the only state to have chosen the woodpecker. The yellowhammer woodpecker, or flicker, was named in 1927 after a unit of Alabamians in the Civil War who adopted the nickname "Yellowhammers."

The only seacoast state to choose a seabird is Louisiana, which selected the pelican. Florida and California favored land-based fowl, the mockingbird and valley quail.

The ruffed grouse, honored by Pennsylvania and South Dakota's ring-necked pheasant are the only other game birds officially adopted.

School Seeking Change In Lyrics of Fight Song

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — The clear, sunny skies over Pittsburgh nowadays are responsible for changing the University of Pittsburgh's fight song.

Pittsburgh's smoke control law, which has revitalized the Steel City, has dated the first line of the Panthers' fight song—"Down in Smokeytown in Pennsylvania."

The Pitt Student Congress has initiated a contest seeking a substitute for "Smokeytown." Pitt students, alumni, faculty and administration officials have been asked to submit entries.

"Since the city is going modern, we have to follow suit," a Pitt spokesman said.

HARMON WINNERS. Both named to receive Harmon Trophies for 1954, Maj. Charles (Chuck) Yeager, Air Force test pilot, chats with Miss Jacqueline Cochran at a New York airfield. Maj. Yeager will receive aviation's outstanding award as the world's top airman for his piloting of the X-1A rocket-powered experimental craft to a speed of more than 1,600 miles an hour. Miss Cochran will be honored for becoming the first woman to break through the sound barrier.

None So Blinded as Those Who Refuse To See, Expert Insists

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—There are some people who are blind only because they refuse to see.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Meredith W. Morgan, chief clinician of the University of California's sub-normal vision clinic. More than 50 persons a year come to the clinic for help, and about half of them are significantly improved after treatment.

Although there are many cases of blindness that are completely incurable, Morgan has had success in restoring as much as 80 to 90 per cent of normal vision to people classified as "blind."

"But strangely enough," Morgan said, "many of the patients whom we do not help, will not be aided even though it is in our power to give them nearly normal vision. Those people are 'blind' simply because they will not see."

Morgan cited the case of a 15-year-old boy who was brought to the clinic by his parents. The boy had only 10 per cent normal vision. The clinic examined him, fitted him with special glasses, and restored his sight to 70 per cent of normal. But the boy had fogotten how to read. So his parents, working with Morgan, painstakingly taught him how to read again. In a matter of months he was on his way to narmal active life.

But one day the boy "lost" the glasses. He had deliberately thrown them off a ferryboat, Morgan learned later. The clinic cured the child's blindness but hadn't counted on the boy who was afraid he could not compete in a seeing world. The sad end of the story is that the youngster was never fitted again with glasses and successfully retreated into his blindness.

There are other cases of people choosing the dark rather than the light, Morgan explained that some of them are looking for a complete cure and won't be satisfied with significant improvement. Others who have been blind or nearly blind for a long time adopt the "attitude of blindness." These people, who have given up hope of ever seeing, are rarely aided, Morgan said.

But there are successes that offset the failures mentioned by Morgan. The clinic treatment, which costs very little, has helped many.

"Some patients who could not read newspaper headlines before they came to us," said the California scientist, "are able to find their own phone numbers in the telephone book after eye training, lens fitting, and careful instruction."

Often after helping patients regain much of their normal sight, the clinic sees other improvement as well. The patients' outlook changes. One 35-year-old mother, who came to the clinic with only 20 per cent of normal vision, was slovenly and disheveled. As her sight improved, so did her appearance and personality.

It depends on the patient, according to Morgan, providing of course that there is physical basis for a cure. If the patient doesn't want to be cured, then "neither the subnormal clinic nor anyone else can help," Morgan said, "'but if he cooperates with the researchers, he may be able to see a lot better.

"For our part," the doctor added, "we have spent a lot of time outfitting our patients with confidence as well as glasses."

Two Cities Have Civil Service Exam Checks

CHICAGO — (UP) — Philadelphia and Detroit have set up safeguards to prevent civil service applicants from putting in "ringers" to take their examinations.

According to the Civil Service Assembly, Philadelphia records the fingerprints of the candidates twice—one before they take the written test and again before their physical examination.

Detroit's police department asks each applicant for information that only he would be apt to know about himself.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. Rep. J. B. Frazier Jr. was offered Tennessee license plate No. 13 for his car. But the Chattanooga congressman said he'd better not take it. Not that he was supersititious, mind you; it was that some of his constituents were, he said. They gave him No. 23 instead.

Woman Flier, Jet Test Pilot Win Air Award

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP) — Miss Jacqueline Cochran and Air Force Maj. Charles E. Yeager today were named the winners of the 1954 Harmon International Aviation Awards.

Miss Cochran, of New York City, was selected, the Harmon trustees said, "for becoming the first woman to break through the sound barrier on May 18, 1953, at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., when she set a closed course speed record of 652 miles per hour in an F86 Sabre jet."

Yeager, U.S. Air Force test pilot attached to the Edwards Base, was cited "for outstanding contributions to the field of supersonic flight achieved through piloting the XIA, a rocket-powered experimental aircraft, to a speed of more than 1,600 miles per hour December 12, 1953" at his home base.

The Harmon awards were founded in 1926 by the late Col. Clifford B. Harmon, pioneer aviator and balloonist after whom Harmon, N.Y., is named.

Aimless Violence Is Safer

The American Cancer Society reported last week that analysis of a study of 187,766 men between 50 and 70 years of age indicated that cigarette smokers have a death rate up to 75 per cent higher than non-smokers.

J. CROSBY

Puffing away at my cigarette as heavily as ever, I fell to reflecting — I don't reflect well without a cigarette, statistics or no statistics — that this was quite a momentous little news story. And (puff puff) I got wondering what radio (into which the cigarette companies pour $30,000,000 annually) and television (into which they pour $70,000,000 annually) had done with it.

MORE IN SORROW than in anger, I print the results. Here in New York, NBC-TV has four daily news shows — one network, the other three local. Their network show is the Camel Caravan with John Cameron Swayze sponsored by guess who which manufactures guess what.

None of the NBC-TV news shows mentioned the Cancer Society report at all. Curiously enough, the NBC radio news staff covered the story extensively, starting with Pauline Fredericks at noon and ending with the 11 o'clock news that night. The right hand doesn't seem to know what the left hand is doing over here at NBC. Or perhaps it's just that $70 million speaks louder than $30 million.

Dumont's news show at 7:35, though unsponsored by cigarettes or anything else, also decided to leave the cigarette story strictly alone. The picture brightens at the other two networks — ABC and CBS. ABC's John Daly at 7:15 carried the story as did ABC's 11 p.m. news. High mark for moral courage goes to Doug Edwards who covered the story in his usual deadpan manner, though Pall Mall sponsors him twice a week. CBS-TV also carried the story on its 11:15 news show.

ALTOGETHER IT'S NOT too bleak a picture. Broadcast news really came of age in the early days of the European war; if the story had broken before then, I have grave doubts that anyone would have carried it.

Still, the omission seriously maligns the integrity of NBC news. NBC is certainly big enough to take on the tobacco companies (and we cannot definitely assume there would have been any repercussions), even though they're third largest advertisers on the air.

The Camel people might fire Swayze for a dozen reasons but it could hardly fire him for reporting the cancer story, public relations being what they are. The story about the relationship between cancer and cigarettes, which is still plenty moot, is hardly a secret any more. It just seems a little silly to treat it like a red hot poker at this stage of the game.

BUT THERE IS QUITE a lot of silliness going on, not all of it confined to the news field. Recently the house organ of the Screen Writers Guild reported that writers are going nutty conforming to advertising taboos. Screen writers are quite accustomed to taboos—but not these taboos. They have learned no to have any hard liquor drinking in series sponsored by beer people. In fact, it's wiser not to have any martinis in any series, even if the sponsor is a mattress company, because the rerun right's might be bought by a beer company.

The Loretta Young show bans mention of divorce and "Trouble With Father," sponsored by a flour company, has a rigid rule that a grocer can never do wrong. Kidnaping of a child is absolutely taboo but it's all right to shoot the child. (U. S. Steel Theater recently violated the kidnap taboo, though.)

ONE OF THE PRIZE examples of taboo poisoning was reported by Shellaby Jackson in "The New Republic": "One harried writer wrote an innocuous teleplay in which the leading man went on a diet in order to make weight for a boxing match. But the ad agency threw the whole thing out because it had a client—a client who had absolutely no connection with the story in question — who marketed a ready cake mix. One taboo spawns six new ones.

"The safest thing to do," Jackson concluded morosely, "is to stay indoors with the camera, preferably in a one-room apartment whose decoration is nondescript and grind out some aimless violence which takes place because of missing jewels."

Israeli-Arab Flareup Quieted in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, July 4 (AP)—Only sporadic gunfire resounded across the tense Israeli - Jordan border in this divided city last night.

No casualties have been reported since the three-day fusillades at the end of last week which left 8 persons dead and 53 wounded on both sides of the border.

The city has been comparatively quiet 48 hours. Members of the U.N. truce observers' group said only sporadic single shots have been heard. Reports from the Jordan-held old city quoted a U.N. spokesman as saying a "firm cease fire" has been achieved.

The 23-room home, Sagamore Hill, built by Theodore Roosevelt in 1884, has been opened to the public as a shrine for the former president.

A Time Not To Fight

Defense tactics in the vital rice delta of the Red River in Indochina are being challenged by critics who charge the defenders are unwilling to fight.

There is no logic in fighting battles that already are lost. As far as French military planning in Indochina is concerned, one Dien Bien Phu is enough.

The military forces arrayed against the government in Indochina have the advantage. The governments which are sponsoring them on the scene and in the time-marking negotiations at Geneva have the advantage.

The military forces that tried to overthrow the republic of Korea also had the advantage; they had the initiative, and they had geography in their favor. But they did not conquer the republic of Korea. They were fought to a standstill. To make sure they do not try anything again, a quarter of a million U.S. troops are being kept on a four-hour alert in southern Korea.

There is a time not to fight. This sometimes is lost sight of during periods of preoccupation with decisions about fighting. There is a philosophy about war as well as a tactical code.

In the struggle to keep the Communist conspiracy from dominating all of Asia, there will be many occasions for falling back. The defense tactics in the Red River delta may be one of the occasions.

This is a war that may go on for a generation.

Shape of the Bargain

One key question still has no answer at the close of the United States Steel-United Steel Workers negotiations that have produced the bargaining pattern for the basic steel industry.

Will the additional cost of carrying out the new contract disturb the recent slight improvement in demand for steel? Will the industry's price adjustment to offset its cost adjustment hurt business?

The bargainers must take a chance on that possibility.

This key negotiation was carried on in the new atmosphere of free bargaining created by the Eisenhower administration. Management negotiators met with union negotiators on an equal footing. The federal government made no attempt to tell either side what it had to do.

The union, under these circumstances, was free to do what unions always have done—ask for more than it expected to get in the hope of getting most of what it wanted. Management was free to offer less than it expected to settle for in the hope of settling for what it thought it could afford.

That is the way it was done. That is free collective bargaining.

No inflammatory statements were issued. No insults were traded. The politicians stayed their distance. No impossible condition, were imposed by government, such as the no-price-increase edict that caused a deadlock, government seizure of the steel industry and an eight-week steel strike in 1952.

The shape of the bargain made in Big Steel is the approximate shape of the bargain in the entire industry; that is the way it is done. And since it has been done two years in a row this way without angry recriminations in the process it must be conceded that something besides arithmetic is going into these agreements—something called mutual respect which used to be conspicuously absent when collective bargaining so frequently turned into a name-calling contest.

All-Weather Amendment

Since this is the season for reviewing the beginnings of independence, it is interesting to note that a witness in a Senate investigation of housing loans has invoked the fifth amendment to keep from testifying about his handling of public funds.

The fifth amendment has been in the news so much in connection with congressional investigations of persons suspected of being Communist subversives that it has become associated in many minds with fifth columns, instead of with basic constitutional rights.

This is one of the all-weather amendments—the original 10 that set forth in some of the plainest language ever written the future restrictions on government by which the Founding Fathers sought to protect the freedom they had won in the Revolutionary War.

The Fifth Amendment provides that "no person . . . shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." It also provides that no person shall be deprived of life, libeety or property without due process of law; that no citizen shall be tried twice for the same offense; that no American shall be held to answer for a crime without an indictment by a Grand Jury.

The Fifth Amendment was not created for the protection of persons accused of Communist affiliations. They are merely among those who seek its protection from time to time, along with all others who (value) its protection lest they be made to testify against themselves when prosecutors lack other means of making a case.

French To Recognize Mao

By Gault MacGowan

Mendes-France Pays for Indochina Cease-Fire

PARIS

The new French government under Pierre Mendes-France is expected to recognize Red China in return for aid in arranging an Indochina cease-fire.

Diplomatic sources here believe that if France does follow the lead of Britain and grant de facto recognition to the Mao Tse-tung regime, it will be extremely difficult for the United States to avoid doing the same.

The French foreign office takes the view that the reception given to Red China's premier, Chou En-lai, at the French embassy in Berne constituted de facto recognition of the Communist regime. Moreover, the diplomats believe that the Chamber of Deputies, in its present mood, would ratify de jure recognition by an overwhelming majority.

A French soldier just back from Indochina summed up what many of his countrymen feel:

"I don't see how we can any longer refuse to recognize a country that has the largest population in the world and can turn hordes of soldiers against our expeditionary force on short notice.

"Red China has a string of airfields across its southern provinces that could annihilate our forces if they get heavily involved in the Indochina war.

"All the American aid in the world will not help us to build airfields in the rice paddies and mountains where most of the fighting is."

FEARS THAT FRENCH defection from the fight against Communist domination of southeast Asia would adversely affect the aid France receives as a member of the North Atlantic alliance is discounted in military circles here.

"If we can escape from the Indochina fiasco at the price of recognition of Peiping," a military spokesman said, "it will mean that we can concentrate on building of our military front in Europe, where we most need it.

"I am sure that once we could release our troops from the Far East, the French people would feel safer in accepting a measure of German rearmament. You cannot expect the average Frenchman to be enthusiastic about an armed Germany when he fears another disaster like Dien Bien Phu. Defense of his homeland comes first in every man's mind."

SOME HIGHLY-PLACED officials believe that recognition of Red China would give the world a badly-needed breathing spell. They reason that once accepted by the international community, the Chinese Communists would devote less energy to building up a war potential and more to solidifying communism at home—putting off for years the day when Red China will be a first-class world military power.

"During that time," a high official said, "we must try to work out a peaceful defense against the march of communism. We can do that in our country by improving the living conditions of Frenchmen. We are far behind Germany and England in providing necessary housing for our people—largely because of the drain of the Indochina war on our national economy.

"If the government can get a satisfactory compromise with the Vietminh we can talk about raising a peace loan instead of war loans. We must stop pouring money down the drain. The Indochina war already has cost us about as much as all the financial aid we have received from the United States.

"Since withholding diplomatic recognition from Red China was a cardinal point of U. S. foreign policy, we held it off as long as we could. We now are threatened with stopppage of American aid, if we do not agree to German rearmament, a rearmed Germany is a potential aggressor against France and, with our troubles in North Africa, it is only prudent for us to get out of complications in the Far East as soon as possible.

"We are against sending strategic materials to Red China or helping to build up communism in any way—not only because we are against communism, but because we need all the strategic materials we can get for ourselves. So there need be no fears of any French sell-out to Red China. If recognition does come, it will be on a limited basis."

Three-Day Holidays

By TRUMAN TWILL

This has been a bumper year for three - day holidays. It was Happy New Year on Friday, which meant Friday, Saturday and Sunday were free for a lot of the help. Memorial Day fell on Sunday, which also was a break for the help, because they celebrated it on Monday.

Independence Day on Sunday, Labor Day on Monday as usual and Christmas on Saturday will make this a year to be remembered, along with 1955, which is going to be just as good in 1955, Independence Day comes on Monday and Happy New Year on Saturday.

The calendar reformers don't seem to be as active as they were a few years ago. But if their idea ever takes hold, holidays will cease to be haphazard and become systematic. All of them will occur on weekends, thereby freeing millions for three - day stretches at a time every year.

These holiday intervals could be spaced more logically, although no one is thinking of changing any fixed occasions. However, there need to be more holidays, if some logical ones could be invented.

From Happy New Year to Memorial Day is too long a stretch—and even Memorial Day is omitted in some parts of the country. One day should be set aside during this period each year to celebrate Patriots' Day, honoring all the great men who have made outstanding contributions to the art of government. Fortunately, the birthdays of Washington, Lincoln, Jackson, Jefferson and Madison fall in February, March and April, which would help to make a Patriots' Day meaningful during this season.

Early in August there should be a Harvest Day, which would be a Harvest Moon type of festival. This would break the monotony between Independence Day and Labor Day and would find ready acceptance among heat - fagged citizens.

Labor Day, of course, is already established. It would be matched, however, by Employer Day on the last Saturday in October, to give the folks something to look forward to while waiting for Thanksgiving and the beginning of the so-called "holidays."

Thanksgiving would have to be switched from Thursday, which was an absurd choice in the first place, to Monday. Christmas always would fall on either Saturday or Monday, preferably Monday because Saturday already is an off day for so many people. The same arrangement would be made for New Year's Day, which always should fall on Saturday, with the understanding that no one would come back to work until the following Tuesday.

The aim of this rearrangement would be to keep the populace keyed up to holiday pitch at all times. Business would prosper mightily from the reckless spending of money while millions of Americans cut loose on three-day weekends. The stepped up sale of weatherproof bandages alone would make a handsome contribution to the net turn-over after turnunder had been subtracted.

The people of America would be healthier, happier, more relaxed. Insurance companies would be so firmly back of the 8 - ball they would never see daylight again. More hospitals would be needed.

And there would scarcely be any work done at all, from resting up after three-day holidays. It would nip overproduction in the bud for all time to come.

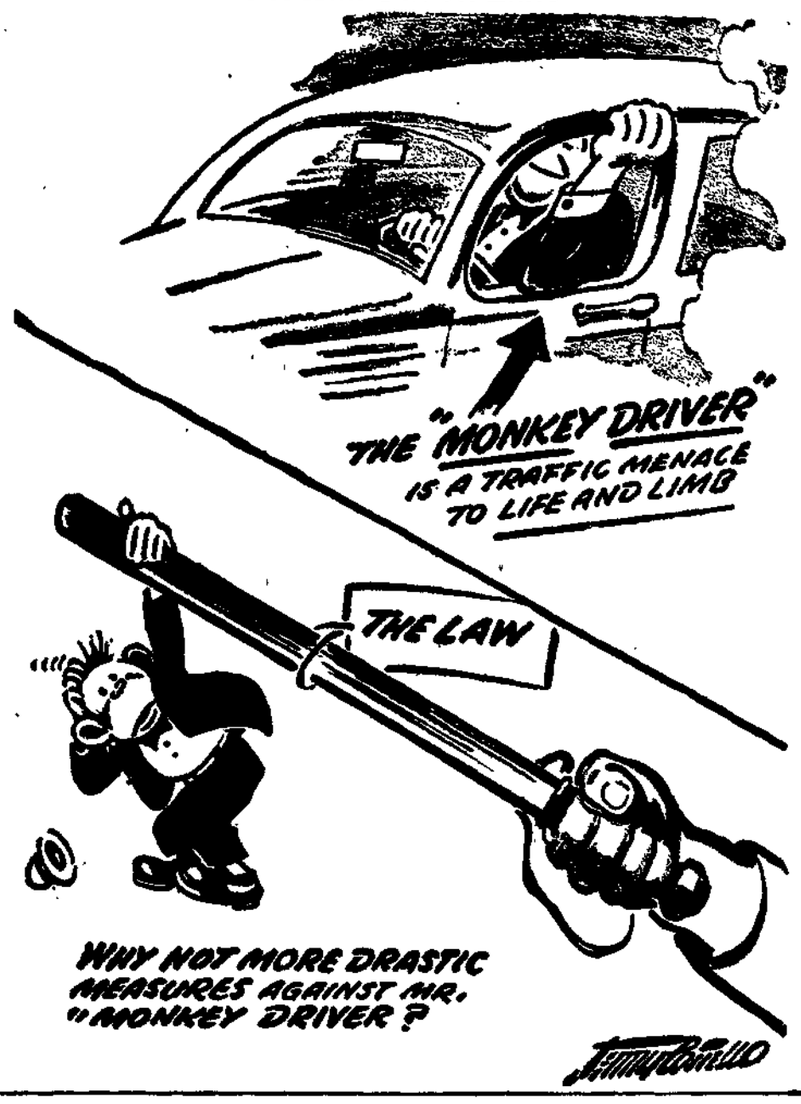
Daily Bible Thought

Above five hundred saw the risen Christ at one time. In all history there is no event more surely established. Plato and a host of great thinkers reasoned themselves into this belief in immortality, but the Son of God proved it beyond doubt. "If a man die shall he live again?" — Job 14:14.

Get Him Out on Limb



July 2 Actual Independence Date

By Martin S. Hayden

WASHINGTON

A lot of the Fourth of July orators are uninformed this week end as to just what the fireworks are all about.

For instance:

Contrary to some general impressions, this is not the anniversary of Congress' initial declaration of independence from Great Britain.

Neither was July 4, 1776 the date, as so many assume, of the "signing" of America's revered Declaration of Independence.

Rather, this is the holiday observance of the official ratification of the full declaration as it was some days later inscribed on a piece of second-rate parchment that, after years of manhandling, is now enshrined, for its 178th birthday year, in bronze, helium and soft lights.

Actually, the birthday of American independence might well have been set as of July 2, that was the day, in 1776, when Congress ratified at Independence Hall the simple resolution by which Richard Henry Lee of Virginia proposed separation from Britain.

PRESERVED IN THE national archives, along with the more famed declaration, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, the scribbled and blot-stained resolution reads:

"The Com. of the whole Congress to whom was referred the resolution and the declaration respecting independence—

"Resolved: that these United Colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown and that all political connection between them and the rule of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved."

The preserved document notes that the resolution was agreed to July 2, 1776 and carries the informal record of the congressional roll all in which the clerk noted 12 states voting "aye," no "nays" and no vote at all from the New York delegation which still awaited instructions from home.

Then Congress began consideration of the formal independence declaration drafted in its essentials by Thomas Jefferson with the help of four special committeemen: Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston. In the late afternoon of July 4 Philadelphia church bells rang the adoption news. That night Jefferson's handwritten text went to the printer and the next day copies were distributed bearing the authentication only the printed names of John Hancock, the president, and Charles Thomson, secretary of the "General Congress."

IT WAS 15 DAYS LATER that Congress ordered an engrossed copy and it was on Aug. 2 that a still unidentified penman returned the now historic document (replete with two typographical errors) for signature. Two weeks later the last of 56 signatures were affixed. Some members of Congress never got around to signing and some who did sign were not accredited members on July 4, 1776, when the vote was held.

The parchment had a rough time for the next 118 years. It was rolled and unrolled without care; for a while during the War of 1812 it was hidden in a linen bag in a barn in Virginia. For 35 years after 1841 it was hung in the patent office in Washington and faded by sunlight from an adjacent window.

Meanwhile some copies had been made, the most famous in 1823 when Secretary of State John Quincy Adams commissioned William J. Stone, "a respectable engraver," to make a facsimile. Stone, it is assumed, followed the techniques of his time and made an impression of the original on a wet copper plate as the tracing base for his engraving.

One result was a preserved readable copy of the original. Another was the further fading of the ink of the original which, by 1894, had become so indistinct as to alarm federal officials.

THAT YEAR the Declaration, along with the better preserved original of the Constitution, was wrapped and sealed in a flat steel box. In 1903 it was opened and inspected by a committee of the National Academy of Science which recommended that forever more the documents be so preserved and never exhibited.

Modern scientists did better. In 1920 they ruled that the flat cases were not fireproof and that, if properly protected, the documents could be shown. From 1924 until 1952 (except for their period of World War II burial in the bullion depository at Fort Knox, Ky.) they were displayed in the Library of Congress, since 1952 they have rested in enshrined glory in the vaulted exhibit hall of the National Archives Building.

Never were documents so protected as are the now-almost unreadable Declaration, the Constitution and the original draft of the Bill of Rights. They are sealed in thremopane glass and bronze cases filled with inert helium gas and water vapor. Special cellulose acetate filters protect them from damaging ultraviolet rays of ordinary light.

At night one of the guards on constant duty presses a button and key portions of the altarlike shrine descend into a vault where 46 inches of steel and reinforced concrete insure the relics, according to national archivist Wayne C. Grover, against anything except a direct atom-bomb hit.

Outdoor Fun Together?

By MARK DANA

Two simultaneous bulletins of timely appropriateness but of some dismaying as well as delightful potentialities are hot off the presses—and in July, of course, many things tend to be warm.

The New York City Public Library, authoring one tract, reminds (needlessly) that school is now out, that children are again highly vocal over the land, and that parents have a new and glorious opportunity to play with the youngsters.

Another inspiring tome from the National Congress of Parents and Teachers urges whole families to make the most of summer via happy outings together. Suggestions include family bus rides, car trips to the country, picnics, fishing excursions, or everybody competing in flying kites.

The library admonition suggests mass accumulation of knowledge, with parents telling the kiddies all about everything, which is in true library tradition, but the PTA bulletin talks mostly of fun.

The implication is that Daddy can drop all his living-earning trouble at the drop of a baseball, and that Mother for nine months has been jealous of the school teachers who have had little Billie and Sue with them during most of the daylight hours and that Mother now is eager to spend the summer days, evenings and nights playing with her lively offspring. The PTA has beautiful idealisms.

Presuming that parents the nation over are twitching to make the summer vacation one long and blissful holiday with their brood, there sorrowfully arises the problem of physical endurance to match the energy with which children are so appealingly prodigal.

Hiking in the woodlands, overnight camping minus a springed mattress, chasing a ball on a hot afternoon—such things are childhood's dish but heavy fare for elderly parents of 30 or so.

Besides, there can rise up the suspicion that kids themselves prefer to shake their parents and have their own vacation junkets unencumbered. Still, the family-vacation legends make mighty lovely reading.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The Wyandot Indians, whose reservation adjoined Marion County lands, were the last of the Ohio Indians to remove to the West. They ceded their reservation to the United States by a treaty negotiated at Upper Sandusky, March 17, 1842.

In 1800 there were 2,200 Wyandot Indians on this reservation. In 1843, at the time of their removal to the Indian Territory, their numbers had dwindled to 800. The principal cause of their decline was believed to be due to contageous diseases.

The Once Over

New York Rolls Out a Mat

New York is throwing a superdooper Summer Festival, with a special bid for the visiting firemen, especially those coming to the big city for the first time. What a kick there is in the initial visit to the metropolis! And how much bigger it will be when the city itself is going all out to extend the glad hand, put its best foot (and skyscraper) forward and help the tourist see the sights!

Our first trip to Gotham was made when the big town wasn't in the party mood or going out of its way to see that a visitor had fun. We remember we were too awed to get beyond the imes Square area, and kept looking back at the Knickerbocker Hotel at Broadway and 42 Street, so we wouldn't lose our bearings.

The great attraction of that trip was not any amusement place, skyscraper, nightclub or Broadway notable; it was the free lunch at the Knickerbocker bar!

We saw nothing like it before and today it seems incredible . . . tables loaded with great sides of hot roast beef, lamb, turkeys, salads, soups, cakes, pies and whatnot, all for free to the cash customer, even if he bought merely a nickel glass of beer. Waiters carved and served, with only a glance of mild disfavor at a second trip by a free loader.

We don't remember paying for any meals while on that first trip. But along about the end of the third day we knew we would have to wear a beard or depart. Later we came to New York to extend our rambles, but had heard so much about the desperate character of life in a big city that we took the precaution of putting our assets amounting to $25 in bills in our shoes as we set forth to Coney. We carried enough money in our inside pocket to have fun, but when we got back to town and took off our shoes we found we had worn the concealed currency to rags and tatters.

A few years later we came to New York for good, or nearly so, and found it a kindly, helpful, safe community. We owe much to its big-heartedness. We had been raised on stories of tough newspaper editors, but the kindliest ones on earth were encountered by us. We like to summon up memories of our early days in New York . . . the shuttle was a novelty, newspaper row was away downtown around Brooklyn Bridge, the old World Building had about the dizziest lobbies in Gotham, the Aquarium was a "must," Ziegfeld was the top showman, Earl Carroll was just getting into swing, it was fun to ride on top of the Fifth Avenue buses and have the home of Charlie Schwab pointed out, Bobby Clark was making his first hit at the Columbia Burlesque theater and one of the sights was all along Riverside Drive.

We remember our amazement that the East Side waterfront knew no beautification whatever, with tenements, breweries, hardware stores, saloons and slaughter houses marking its full length.

The Hippodrome was always packed and the big act was the ballet which disappeared under the water, a stunt which is today revived at the Jones Beach water show. Everybody went to the Palace. . . . Gallagher & Shean were the rage there.

In our recollection the "sights of New York" included Herbert Bayard Swope, George Cohan, Sam Harris, the statue of Civic Virtue, the iron framework for the Yankee Stadium, Marilyn Miller, the Library Lions, Tilyou's Steeplechase Park, Manhattan Beach, the old Madison Square Garden, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, the Meusels, Frankie Frisch, a restaurant (was it Gerbers?) in Times Square which featured a wonderful dollar dinner, the Ziegfeld Roof, Morvich and Dunboyne, two great race horses, the first blueprints for the Empire State building, the Flea Circus, Grover Whalen in his earliest days, John McGraw and Jack Dempsey, newly crowned champion, who went around wearing a sweater and a cap, looking extra tough and showing no promise of developing into a dapper sophisticated Mister Broadway. . . . Summer Festival, we wish you luck. New York can be pretty wonderful; first time, second time and in memory.

Nothing will keep a man in the United States longer than a deportation proceeding.

Rhode Island Tree Dies Early in Florida Grove

WAKEFIELD, R. I. (UP) — The Chamber of Commerce of South Kingstown, R. I., wrote to the Chamber of Commerce of Miami, Fla., about a matter of honor.

The South Kingstown Chamber wants to plant a Rhode Island tree in a special grove near Miami's airport.

The chamber's secretary had reported that on a recent stop at Miami he was told about the grove which contained a tree from all 48 states. But when he asked to see the Rhode Island tree, he was further enlightened:

"Oh, that one has been dead for about five years."

List of Guides Set for Buyers Of Used Autos

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Better Business Bureau warns used car buyers to play safe by trading only with reputable dealers.

A special bureau report contained a few hints on how to spot a dishonest dealer. It also gave a number of checks you can make to assure getting your money's worth.

The bureau said to beware of the dealer whose prices are markedly below the advertised average. It cited an actual case where a buyer was rooked when he answered an ad offering for $395 a car that normally sold for around $595. He liked the car's looks and, without further examination, signed a blank finance contract.

When the papers were returned to the buyer, the price had been upped to $795 and the agreed downpayment had jumped $200. Therefore, the actual price was $200 above-market and $545 above the advertised price. This didn't include the later installation of a new engine which the delivered car was found to need.

Beware, also, of so-called guarantees that many dealers offer orally, but not in writing.

The bureau also recommended:

1. Trade with a dealer whose reputation in the community is established.

2. Make sure that the agreed price is in writing. Get a receipted, detailed bill covering all the facts about your purchase.

3. Make certain the finance contract is made out before you sign it. Read it carefully to see if it is in accordance with your understanding with the dealer.

The report urged the following checks to determine the condition of a car you may wish to purchase:

1. The cardinal rule is drive it before you buy it. If the dealer won't let you drive it, don't buy it.

2. Check the speedometer reading against the conditon of the car. Grease and oil stickers inside the driver's door may show a higher mileage than the meter. Other tipoffs are worn arm rests, pedals, and floor mats. If they are unreasonably worn, "it's unlikely the car was owned by a retired minister who only drove it 10 miles a week."

3. Check play in the steering wheel and steering gear, as well as the amount of smoke coming from the exhaust. Too much of either is a danger signal.

4. See if the engine slows down and speeds up quickly when the accelerator is pressed. If not, the rings may be bad.

5. A loud humming noise is a sign of transmission or rear end trouble.

Says Congress at Helm

Ike Loses Foreign Policy Lead, Democrat Asserts

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) said today Congress is taking the initiative on foreign policy away from President Eisenhower.

He said Congress, by taking the lead on three major foreign policy issues in a week, had showed a "lack of confidence" in administration leadership.

Points to Actions

McCormack, deputy House Democratic leader, named two of the congressional actions as a resolution warning Communists out of the Western Hemisphere, and a proposal in the foreign aid bill to cut off aid to any nation joining a nonaggression pact with Asian Communists.

In each case, he said, Congress has taken over functions which rightly belong to the executive branch.

The latest move in this trend, he said in an interview, is the declaration by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), that he would resign as Senate Republican leader and fight for congressional action to take the United States out of the U.N. if the Chinese Communists are seated in that international organization.

"Knowland is very fearful that Red China will be admitted and that the United States will not oppose it vigorously," McCormack said.

"He is taking desperate but courageous measures to try to stop it."

Express Strong Opposition

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have expressed strong opposition to the seating of Red China, and Vice President Nixon repeated that opposition in a speech last night.

McCormack said the Constitution entrusts foreign policy to the executive branch and Congress has no business dictating policy, even if it were always right.

But, he said, Congress has taken a hand in these questions because no public policy on them has been announced by the President or the State Department.

Grandmother Runs And Builds Houses

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Mrs. Edith Friedman, a 47-year-old grandmother, is a home-maker in every sense of the word.

She keeps house for her attorney-husband and their five children. And she builds houses for others.

Mrs. Friedman has one completed project to her credit—a million-dollar development of 108 homes. She planned them, supervised their construction and sold them.

Now, she's hard at work on a new and larger project of 138 homes in the Hatboro area near Philadelphia.

An on-the-job every-day overseer, she isn't deterred by weather. She has slogged through mud in hip boots and trudged through the hot dust of summer drought in her tours.

Mrs. Friedman began her training as a builder while working as her husband's secretary. Friedman has represented many construction companies in the financing of their projects.

Over the years, she absorbed a lot of technical know-how, but when she was ready in 1942 to go into business, she kept her plans from her husband until the first foundations were in.

"Then I told him," she said, "and he didn't like it at all. But he let me go ahead."

Mrs. Friedman said at first she worried about bossing her male workers.

"But the men themselves dispelled that fear," she said. "It didn't make any difference that a woman was running the project."

Miss Donna Ruth Saiter, Bernard G. Lyon Married

Miss Donna Ruth Saiter became the bride of Bernard Gene Lyon in a ceremony read Sunday, June 20, in Epworth Methodist Church. The pastor, Rev. Walter C. Eyster, read the service at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before an altar banked with palms and decorated with bouquets of lilies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Saiter of 649 Henry St. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lyon of 237 Pennsylvania Ave.

MR. SAITER gave his daughter in marriage. Her princess style costume of light blue silk shantung was worn with a jacket featuring three-quarter length sleeves and she carried her bouquet of pink carnations on a white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Myron Day of Cleveland was the matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of pink silk shantung and carried white daisies.

Tom Taylor served as best man for the bridegroom and the guests were seated by James L. Saiter, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip to Pennsylvania, New York, Niagara Falls and Canada. They will make their home at 148 E. Farming St.

Memorable Date

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

I have listened for days to the warnings over the radio that this year there will be a record number of accidents on the road on the Fourth of July weekend. The public is warned to be careful. The life that is lost may be your own.

What has the Fourth of July become? Is it a lost weekend? Is it a day for chasing from nowhere to nowhere? Is it a pagan summer festival?

Listen my children and you shall hear of a wondrous story of a brave people, the first colonials to declare their independence from their mother country and to tell the world why. That is why the Fourth of July is celebrated.

It was celebrated before anyone ever thought of an automobile; it was celebrated before there was a good road in this country, before there were any state-designated picnic areas to litter with paper and cartons and all the debris of a good time, including broken bottles.

IT WAS celebrated as a holy birthday, as the day on which a new nation was conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

It was on a hot day in July, in the city of Philadelphia, dedicated to peace, that a small group of brave men met to issue a proclamation, written principally by Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, philosopher, engineer, statesman, one day to become president of the United States.

It was a most unusual document, for whereas when revolutions are announced, the revolutionists denounce those in power and promise the masses land, food, wealth — whatever it is that men crave — Jefferson set forth a philosophy of politics and of life as the reason for revolution.

I write this in the town of Sandisfield in Massachusetts on a farm that borders on the trail that "Gentleman" Johnny Burgoyne took when he fought Indians. It is on the road where General Henry Knox cut through the forest as he brought the artillery from Ticonderoga to Cambridge. It is a few miles from King Philip's encampment where he laid siege to the settlers in Hartford and Springfield. It is a few miles from where Shay's Rebellion took place on the eve of Washington's administration.

IT IS A GOOD place to sit and think about the Fourth of July, of the birth of a nation and of the wondrous preamble which every child of my generation was required to memorize until it remained in the mind like something living that moved and demanded notice. "When in the course of human events. . ."

Yes, children, you are told that to memorize is unnecessary, that you need only to know about things and to understand them. But in 1917, I was in Petrograd on that October day when early in the morning the sailors came up the Neva, firing their guns and proclaiming a new day. They would give the peasants and workers land, peace and bread.

"When in the course of human events. . ." shouted at me in Jefferson's words:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. . ."

THERE WAS no mob. There was no crowd. There were no great cheering claques. There was a small committee of five men. Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and R. R. Livingston who were appointed to draft a declaration of independence for the 13 Colonies who wished to be free.

This the delegates adopted on July 4 and to it all the distinguished signatories pledged with "firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence," their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

These words we should on July Fourth each year repeat as a prayer to God that we should never be tempted to forget our beloved country and what we owe to it.

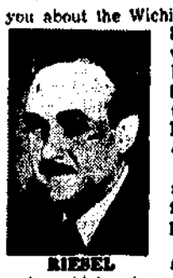
Play Ball

By Victor Riesel



RIESEL

You have the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants on your mind and here I am going to tell you about the Wichita Indians, a ball tribe which was having trouble holding on to its Western League franchise.

The Wichita aggregation falls into my purview because it was saved by a union which got up the shekels, as the sports literature used to say in my younger, more muscular, center field days. Seems that the Indians had dropped $20,000 in 1953, instead of making dividends for the owners. Things looked bad for the '54 season; so the International Assn. of Machinists (AFL) decided to save professional baseball in that community.

The union there raised $10,000 for home game tickets — and donated $1,500 to the management to buy a new pitcher. For this you don't get a Sal Maglie, but the new hurler hurled. And the Indians are back in business. Other unions helped — and the team's business manager conceded that labor had saved pro-ball in Wichita.

WITH 30,000 union members able to get up the money and time to go out to the park, Bob Doty, business manager of the Indians, said: "With a group like that backing us, there can be no doubt that a financially successful season is already assured."

I suppose I write this story because I'm a devotee of the underdog, being a Baltimore Oriole fan, and never having been on a team myself which wound up near the top of any league.

Let's not leave the saga of sagebrush baseball without making a point which I could also hinge on the fact that the Machinists unions, and other labor outfits, also helped the Fort Worth Cats win the Texas League opening night attendance record. The president of that team found himself impelled to say: "The working people are the backbone of this ball club."

Moral is that whether it's sports or any other recreational activity, our working people are spending millions of dollars a week enjoying themselves. In some circles it's unpopular to point that out.

I can understand why John Lewis, and the two Davids, McDonald and Beck, jointly cry out to President Eisenhower that things are bad, with 4,000,000 jobless. But I look in vain in these statements for some acknowledgement of the fact that there are $1,000,000 plus still hard at work.

WITHOUT SEEKING to prejudice the case of Messrs. John L., Dave and Dave in behalf of the jobless in their unions, I want to pass along some ammo for our international propagandists to neutralize the effect of such statements abroad.

We have the word of U.S. assistant secretary of labor Harrison C. Hobart that, "American workers now have more money left after buying the necessities of life and more time in which to spend it than they did in past years, because of a higher standard of living brought about through labor-management cooperation and the free enterprise system."

Lest these words sound pollyannish to the cynical, there are statistics to back them up.

The average middle-income family in 1900 had only 17 per cent of its income left after food, clothing and shelter. Today, 54 years later, the same family has more than twice as much, or 39 per cent of its income left after essentials.

Hobart says that the new "money leisure" of workers has created a new market. Let it not go unnoticed. It seems reasonable to ask that a plea for the jobless be coupled with some statement that this nation isn't bankrupt. The enemy's propagandists will cripple confidence in us otherwise. 3

IT SHOULD BE pointed out that this new round of wage increases —the ninth round, by the way — is ranging as high as 18 cents an hour more. Some 5,000 Chicago janitresses just got such an increase.

Under the new steel wage-package contract, which will cost U.S. Steel a little more than eight cents an hour additional, and a few steel companies as high as 12 cents an hour, janitors and sweepers in America's steel plants will not receive $1.57 an hour, or $62.80 for a 40-hour week. On that you can't get rich, but just compare it with some bit city school teachers' and policemen's salaries.

This wage round will be nearly as good as the others. Pensions will be high and make even more leisure for more retired workers.

Which is why I wanted to tell you about the Wichita Indians and Fort Worth Cats.

Freedom

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

One of the leading causes of flat feet in America at the turn of the century was Independence Day oratory.

People at the public park picnic lunch in the public park could feel their arches falling as they stood in throngs around the bandstand, listening to a pompous politician praise the founding fathers in hours-long speeches pockmarked with platitudes.

HAL BOYLE

Today Americans don't celebrate the Fourth of July so much with oratory, firecrackers and professional flag waving. Our families just relax and enjoy the liberty to do as we please — a right our ancestors won through bloodshed, a right each generation since usually has had to preserve through bloodshed.

—:—

BUT GREAT days deserve great thoughts. Here is what some famous minds of the past and present have thought on the tremendous theme of liberty, independence, freedom:

"Whoso would be man, must be a nonconformist"—Emerson.

"Independence, like honor, is a rocky island without a beach"—Napoleon.

"The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty"—Abraham Lincoln.

"Liberty means responsibility. That is why most men dread it"—Bernard Shaw.

"Follow your own beat no matter what people say"—Karl Marx.

"The strongest man in the world is he who stands most alone"—Henrik Ibsen.

"Paddle your own canoe"—Frederick Marryat.

"I would rather sit on a pumpkin and have it all to myself than be crowded on a felt cushion"—H. D. Thoreau.

"So live that you can look any man in the eye and tell him to go to hell"—Unknown author, quoted by John D. Rockefeller Jr.

"Declarations of independence make nobody really independent"—George Santayana.

"Jefferson's Declaration of Independence is a practical document for the use of practical men. It is not a thesis for philosophers, but a whip for tyrants; it is not a theory of government, but a program of action"—Woodrow Wilson.

"Liberty is given by nature even to mute animals"—Tacitus.

"Among a people generally corrupt, liberty cannot long exist"—Edmund Burke.

"LIBERTY is always dangerous, but it is the safest thing we have"—Harry Emerson Fosdick.

"Man's liberty ends, and it ought to end, when that liberty becomes the curse of his neighbors"—Frederic William Farrar.

"The love of liberty is the love of others; the love of power is the love of ourselves"—William Hazlitt.

"He that would make his own liberty secure must guard even his enemy from oppression"—Thomas Paine.

"I would rather belong to a poor nation that was free than to a rich nation that had ceased to be in love with liberty. We shall not be poor if we love liberty"—Woodrow Wilson.

"We are not to expect to be translated from despotism to liberty in a feather bed"—Thomas Jefferson.

"They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety"—Benjamin Franklin.

"Independence forever!" —exclamation by John Adams the morning of his death, July 4, 1826, when roused by holiday cannon fire. (Thomas Jefferson died the same day.)

"The United States is the only country with a known birthday"—James G. Blaine.

Johnston Sees Chance To Settle Jordan Issue

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—Eric A. Johnston, special presidential envoy in the Israeli-Jordan dispute over power and irrigation development of the Jordan River, said today "there is a possibility" the issue can be settled.

Johnston arrived at Idlewild Airport.

He said he will meet with President Eisenhower Tuesday to discuss the results of his one-month trip to Egypt and Israel.

ACTION FILED

BUCYRUS — A $6,500 action for money has been filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by Austin Jarvis, now serving in the armed forces, against Evelyn Christman, Galion, as a result of an auto collision between Galion and Crestline in April, 1952. Jarvis claims he suffered a lacerated nose and bruised knees and the car he was driving was damaged to the extent of $1,500 when his car collided with one driven by the defendant near the intersections of State Routes 61 and U.S. Route 30-S. He charges the defendant with carelessness and negligence.

MAY SEEK U. S. TRAINING

TOKYO, Monday, July 5 (AP) — Some pilots of Japan's new air force may take advanced training in the United States, Kyodo News Service said yesterday the defense board is considering the plan.

Galion Considers Purchase of Buses

GALION — No decision was reached on selection of two new school buses for the Galion Public School system, but two teachers were hired when the Board of Education met in special session Friday.

The board is studying bids from four dealers, and trying to decide whether to purchase buses of 54-capacity or 59-capacity. Size and ease of handling on roads where the buses will be used are qualifications.

Another special meeting is called for July 19 at 7:30 p.m., when the buses will again be considered.

The board hired Miss Barbara Ann Dickerson for the position of English-Spanish teacher at Senior High School. She will fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Miss Norma Murphy who will teach in the Canton schools next year. Miss Dickerson was graduated this spring from Wittenberg College, Springfield.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dickerson of Marion, former Galion residents. This summer Miss Dickerson is taking special work at Ohio State University. She was graduated from Harding High School, Marion, and Wittenberg, receiving a degree of Bachelor of Science in Education degree cum laude.

Mrs. Evelyn Hildebrand, wife of Leon Hildebrand of Galion, was employed as an elementary teacher. She has had training at Ashland College, and has had experience in Knox and Morrow county schools, teaching last year at Leesville, Crawford County.

YOUTHS INDUCTED

MOUNT GILEAD — Three Morrow County youths were inducted into the Armed Forces Wednesday, according to Mrs. Harriett Miracle, clerk. Sent to Ft. Hayes were: David B. Reppart of Cardington; Felix Blanton Jr., of Marengo and Neil H. Squires of Chesterville.
